Mr. Hsu Sing-loh:
The Memorial Fund

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—On August 26 I made a suggestion, through your columns, that a fund should be raised among the friends of Mr. Hsu Sing-loh for the establishment of a memorial to his name, and I am pleased to notice that this has met with a ready response.

Since then I have been in communication with Mr. Hsu's Chinese friends who, as was to be expected, intend to create a memorial worthy of the esteem in which Mr. Hsu was held, and a small international committee is now being formed to administer funds received. The names of this committee will, it is hoped, be announced in the course of the next few days.

In the meantime an appeal for funds has been issued in all the leading Chinese newspapers over the signatures of Mr. Yu Ya-ching, Mr. Li Ming, Mr. Chang Yuen-chi and Mr. T. K. Ho, reading, inter alia as follows:—

The tragic news of Mr. Hsu Sing-loh's untimely death, for whose untiring services to the public over some 20 years one can hardly find adequate words of praise, has been received with the deepest sympathy by his friends in all communities. Being close friends of his, we beg to suggest that a fund be raised for the purpose of creating some tangible memorial to his name, leaving ways and means in the hands of a committee which will be formed as soon as a sum is collected. We know that Mr. Hsu's foreign friends are considering an identical proposal, which shows that as a scholar, a gentleman, and a sound banker Mr. Hsu was greatly admired by the foreign community as well as by his own nationals. We have no doubt that all his friends will give their hearty support to this movement. Donations may be sent to the National Commercial Bank, 406 Kiangse Road, Shanghai, or to the "North-China Daily News," 17 The Bund, Shanghai, which will be duly acknowledged in the leading Chinese newspapers and the "North-China Daily News" from time to time. All donations must be sent in before October 31, 1938.

The decision as to the form which the memorial should take will clearly depend upon the total sum ultimately available, and, in order that it may be worthy of him, I venture to express the hope that those of your readers who knew Mr. Hsu will subscribe generously.

G. E. MITCHELL.

Shanghai, Aug. 31.

"Making Friends":
Vignettes of Life

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—I think Mr. Norman Lynd was again at one of his best in "Making Friends," which you reproduced in your Sunday Supplement. His ever perfect control of his pencil, and the expressions and gestures of his faces and figures. And the irresistible hilarity they suggest is a cure at all times for the dumps, and particularly on a wet Sunday morning, like the last. And his sketch that tickled my ribs particularly was on that happy illustration of what Democracy is, in the gross. And there is not a democrat but knows it—myself of the number—so no one was offended. That good "old oil about 'this gathering of intelligent and enlightened citizens—men who are the backbone of the nation'," and the said "bones"—the political spouter inclusive—showing it, was gorgeous!

What a happy world ours is—or should be—for the fooleries we put through in make-believe! But to think that our fathers had died, not laughing at this comedy—this Democracy—but to save it, and make it safe that we, or our sons, might live to go and do likewise—in our turn! The comedy of it, were it not so tragic! as the clown said when he dropped on his head by mistake and a call had to be put through for an ambulance.

But, what a privilege is the cartoonist's! Or did an artist—a Disney—give motion to that picture on film, what a howl would have risen from some censorial teaparty—touchy as the "touchies," and fearful of offending the "susceptibilities" of children under sixty, or of the neurasthenics afeard "to see oursels' as other people see us." And of democrats we speak, and of the "truly manly," who thrive on open fair criticisms and make progress on corrections.

Or did a writer try it. Or, imagine even poor TOUCHSTONE making the attempt. His scribbles enveloped and fully stamped, under his arm, rusing the bridge and its bayonets—buoyed with the hope of its publication elsewhere—but only to be bagged, snipped, microscoped, chemically tested and threatened with the incinerator for some imagined traces of "impermissible thinking" found on his person. Or, back to safety, over the Tiber—but alas! to be lined up against a wall to be "purged" with a machine gun for thinking—but not Red! What a dangerous thing is the right of thought! And to think that the noblest and wisest of men had died to make it free, and to be the live basis of Democracy—the thing!

And all this is our enlightened year of grace, when civilization, risen to its noblest heights, is now arming itself to its teeth, and beyond, with inventions and chemistries, the most hellish that every entered thought this side of hell, and to be set in motion, at a signal, that it (civilization) shoot itself to pieces in defence against being destroyed!

O Sanity, where are thy charms,
That sages have seen in thy face?
Or a gulp of that stuff that becalms,
Than dwell with this horrible race!

With apologies to Cowper,

TOUCHSTONE.

Eyes to the Blind:
Regulation Relaxed

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—The report in the "North-China Daily News" today relating to the refusal of the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries to allow Miss Hazel Hurst, the blind girl, to take ashore on arrival in England the Alsatian dog which acts as her guide owing to the quarantine regulations requiring the dog to be in quarantine for six months, will have far-reaching reactions unless some new legislation is introduced to make special provision for such cases. The explanation of the official of the Ministry that the regulations are perfectly clear and that the precaution is a sanitary one to guard against introducing rabies into the country is understood and appreciated, but it ought to be possible to provide for exceptional cases such as the one in question in which the girl has become dependent upon the dog as her guide owing to her own blindness. Her visit to England without the help and companionship of the dog which leads her would be an awful strain and her decision not to be separated from the dog was the natural one as she had no practical alternative. One feels more sympathy for her statement, "It is the first time I have ever felt blind in my life, and it is my mother country that has made me feel that way. There is no question of my going ashore without Bebe. I am going back to America when the boat sails on Friday and I shall never want to come to England again," than for the official remark, "On no condition could we relax the regulations." We all value the precautions but for an isolated case such as this exceptional measures might have been possible.

LEADERLESS.

Shanghai, Aug. 30.

As a matter of fact at the eleventh hour the regulations were relaxed, and Miss Hurst was allowed to take her dog ashore for a short while before her ship left for the United States. This was effected through the intervention of Mr. Joseph Kennedy, U.S. Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and in a telegram to him Miss Hurst said:—

"After all appeals have failed you have, through your personal intervention, given me the greatest thing in my life and, through me, freedom to all the blind, as my guide dog 'Babe' and I have walked for a short time on English soil today, an exception that has never been granted before. I shall always be grateful to England for this gesture of international friendship."

Street Names:
A Plea Against Change

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—This is a protest against changing the name of one of the oldest and best known streets in Shanghai—Peking Road—which is suggested in your paper today as a memorial to Mr. Hsu Sing-loh.

Our main streets are named on a logical and commonsense plan. Running north and south they bear the names of Chinese provinces — Szechuen, Kiangsi, Honan, etc., to Tibet Roads (the latter now unfortunately under another name). East and west are the names of China's notable cities —Peking, Nanking, Kiukiang, etc., to Canton Roads. This plan is an aid to a knowledge of the topography of the Settlement and the names are easily remembered and spelt, which is not usually the case when they are changed.

Changing a street name is one of the cheapest forms of commemoration that could be proposed. It costs the Municipal Council and most of the ratepayers nothing. It is, however, a costly business to the firms and residents living on such a road: their stationery, etc., has to be reprinted, their addresses in directories changed, and for a period of years there is confusion between the old and new names.

Mr. Hsu himself would, in the writer's opinion, have been one of the last men to approve of such a "memorial," and his probable wishes should at least be given consideration. A suitable memorial to perpetuate his memory is now being considered by a group of his friends, and one in which all who mourn his loss can participate. Let us remember him by that and not by the cheap device of destroying one noble name and substituting another.

Unhappy Precedent

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—While friends and admirers may, if they so wish, raise a fund in memory of the Chinese gentleman who was done to death in a recent execrable incident, the suggestion that eternal tribute should be levied on an unwilling but inadequate public by renaming Peking Road as Hsu Sing Loh Road, should not be entertained.

We have the cumbersome but not uneuphemistic renaming of Thibet Road as an ever-present reminder of our rash but facile creators of such public monuments, but as one of your correspondents pointed out at the time, even they boggled at the mouthful of North Yu Ya Ching Road, and so we still have, among those present, meaningless North Thibet Road.

If this sort of mania is not stopped we shall be having Nanking Road renamed Matsui Avenue, and Bubbling Well Road renamed after the air combat hero who flew home rejoicing, on only half a wing.

The Fifth Test:
Yorkshire Paper's Views

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—I attach herewith the following clipping taken from the "Yorkshire Times" of Friday, August 5, of this year, and wonder if your readers agree.

YORKSHIREMAN.

Shanghai, Aug. 30.

LEAVE IT TO YORKSHIRE

Now that the Fifth Test has been rendered meaningless, in that the "ashes" cannot be wrested from Australia, there would, I believe, be applause even in the South if the Fifth Test were used to stage a return meeting between Yorkshire and the Australians to settle the exasperating doubt left by the Sheffield match. Last year Yorkshire and Middlesex contested the county championship so closely that they agreed, the championship results apart to settle the issue to their own satisfaction by direct combat. It would be excellent if Yorkshire and Australia could do the same thing this year.

A LANCASTRIAN TRIBUTE

Powerful and surprising support for this idea comes from Mr. Neville Cardus, the mercurial and lyrical Lancastrian who has done so much to decorate cricket journalism in this country. It is the habit of Mr. Cardus to tease his friends by praising their foes, and he knows no better way of lashing his beloved Lancashire to further effort than by taunting them with the superiority of the Yorkshireman.

Between vexation and admiration, he paid this wonderful tribute to the Yorkshire side after their great victory at Old Trafford on Monday:—

I therewith make a suggestion, in all seriousness to the Selection Committee. Play the Yorkshire team, with or without Hammond and Paynter, in the Oval Test match. Perhaps it would be as well to omit Hammond, and even Paynter. The great thing would be to keep the Yorkshire team as a team. For countless years Yorkshire have shown the proper balance and temper.

They are as good, as we saw yesterday, as the Australians at exploiting a bluff. They possess the skill and the character. Would anybody in his senses prefer to see Hardstaff playing for England instead of Leyland, or Barnett instead of Mitchell? For the purposes of the Oval Test match, we need not consider the question of building up a team of young men. Then, granted that much, who would prefer Edrich or Fagg to Sutcliffe?

Night Noises:
One Way of Suppression

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—One can sympathize with your correspondent OBSERVER as to the arrogance of chauffeurs and the prevalence of street noises. Pedlars and food vendors are invariably responsible for a great deal of the weird wails shattering the peace of the city at night. A few years ago an American resident succeeded in an assured night of undisturbed slumber. On a few occasions he released—by means of a pistol—tear gas whenever the ignorant and persistent pedlar raised his raucous voice. That area was immediately shunned. The French police sought clues in vain. The man had peace—at a price.

RESIDENT.

Shanghai, Aug. 31.

The Grounded Plane:
Courage or Chivalry?

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Sophistry may claim some space but not in a review of cold facts. "The Hongkong Nippo" of August 24 is credited with the pronouncement:—"Sun Fo escapes. Surprise raid on passenger plane by our naval airplanes." If the helpless passengers were not machine-gunned, how is it that one of the luckless men had 13 bullet wounds? The pilot asserted that those who tried to escape from the doomed aircraft were fired at. Is this a display of courage, or of chivalry? What the average foreign resident in this city thinks of it is unprintable—as yet, maybe.

The Silly Season:
Getting Sillier

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Re your note, column 2, page 2, today. If you will ask your office boy to imagine the "speaker" looking into a mirror I think he might reconsider.

HIMSELF.

Shanghai, Aug. 31.

Sixty Years Ago

FROM THE "NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS," OF SEPTEMBER 1, 1878

A correspondent from Foochow writing on August 26, says that the American schooner Spartan arrived at Quangtow on the 24th from the wreck of the German ss. Sedan. She brought two boxes of sycee which she had recovered from the wreck, worth about Tls. 8,000. Captain Vincent shipped the sycee to Hongkong in the ss. Yesso, on the 25th. On one or two previous occasions, Captain Vincent has shipped quantities of sycee salved from the Sedan, to Hongkong, by Douglas vessels from Haitan Straits. I cannot speak positively as to the amount, but am told on reliable authority that the salvors have recovered in all up to about Tls. 23,000 in sycee alone. Captain Vincent cleared again today at the Custom house and intends to sail again tomorrow for Haitan Straits. One of our tea taipans has left for Old England, and two others have taken their departure for Australia, in order to solicit business for next year's tea season.

Studio Will Gamble Huge Fortune

Leading the way in what is expected to become a "trend" in Hollywood picture making, in the next few months, Universal studios recently announced that it is "gambling $1,000,000" to bring back more human and down-to-earth romance in motion pictures.

"The public is tired of slap-stick love scenes and artificial people on the screen," declared Joe Pasternak, who makes the Deanna Durbin films and has now been assigned to produce "Youth Takes a Fling," which is to serve as a "test" of national opinion on the subject.

"The story is a simple but powerful narrative of two interesting but very human young people," he said. "The stars, Joel McCrea and Andrea Leeds, are cast as a typical American boy and girl.

"There are plenty of dramatic elements and entertainment value in the picture—but no slap-stick. Theatregoers are fed up on slapstick. We're putting $1,000,000 in the film to determine if people aren't ready for screenplays that are entirely human and true to life."

English Style Fresh Fish and Chips

Fish and chips in the old-fashioned English style, served fresh and hot, will be the treat in store for patrons of the Ballroom tomorrow night, the occasion being Fish and Chips Night, a regular weekly affair. Hot dogs are served free of charge every Monday night, while Wednesday nights are known as Spot Dance Nights. According to Mr. Stanley Roberts, manager, the Majestic has no need for a cooling system, facing as it does the wide expanse of the Race Course and enjoying the cool natural breezes every night. The Majestic, it is stated, is particularly favoured by British and American service men and has a complement of more than 150 international hostesses.

Old Screen Favourites Out

James Dunn, Warren William, Edmund Lowe And Ruth Chatterton Formerly Drew Millions

Star eats star in Hollywood. No, they have not gone in for cannibalism, writes Sheilah Graham to the "Oregonian." But my statement is still true. Every time a new star is created an old star begins walking the plank to oblivion.

A few short years ago James Dunn, Ruby Keeler, Constance Bennett, Warren William, Lew Ayres, Edmund Lowe, Ruth Chatterton, Reginald Denny, Charlie Farrell, Fay Wray, Dorothy Jordan, Zasu Pitts, Francis Lederer, Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Kay Francis and Polly Moran were names guaranteed to pile up a box office score. Where are they now? The majority has been forced into "B" pictures.

Some, like Francis Lederer, Polly Moran and Zasu Pitts, find it very hard to obtain any kind of movie job. Philosophical Kay Francis is resigning (a better word for retiring) after her marriage this autumn. Others, like Reginald Denny and Lew Ayres, willingly play second fiddle to the stars who have ousted them.

Few at Top of Ladder

But for the Taylors, Flynns, Powers, Temples, De Havillands, Henies of 1938, those stars might still be sitting pretty in the film firmament. But there is room only for a certain number of stellar picture personalities and, although the space at the top has expanded in recent years, there is always a percentage of old-timers who must lose out to the new favourites.

"Goodbye Broadway"

Charles Winniger soon will be at the Cathay.

Let's jump back 20 years and see who were the kings and queens of movieland—and who forced them to abdicate. The year is 1918, and J. Warren Kerrigan's love-making is palpitating the hearts of maidens whose boy friends are "over there." Ditto for Wallace Reid. William S. Hart is doing heroic deeds in the name of Westerns. Bert Lytell stars in "The Lone Wolf." Louise Glaum (she now runs a dramatic school in Los Angeles) is a name to revere. Handsome Herbert Rawlinson is doing his stuff in "Slipping Wives" and "The Bugle Call." Priscilla Dean flies high in popularity. Anita Stewart thrills college boys with that exciting smile of hers. Bryant Washburn is at the height of his fame. Wanda Hawley is paid a huge salary by the Lasky group. Betty Compson shows how miracles are made in "The Miracle Man." Henry B. Walthall is only just beginning to drop below his starring peak.

Even Clara Bow Forced Out

Five years later not one of these stars means more than a nickel at the box office. They have given way to a whole bunch of newcomers. Monte Blue takes the torch from the unwilling hands of a star predecessor. Rod La Rocque and Vilma Banky replace two others. (La Rocque was screen-born as a result of Rudolph Valentino's famous strike. When Rudy refused to play with Paramount, Rod, an American boy, was sent to France and reintroduced to the country as a Frenchman. "Ten Commandments" in 1923 put him at the head of the procession). Claire Windsor is a big name of that year. So is Lew Cody.

Constance Talmadge, who was only just beginning in 1918, achieves major stardom in 1923 with "East Is West." Evelyn Brent is playing big parts—in detective pictures mostly. Bebe Daniels enjoys her greatest popularity between the years 1923 and 1928.

And Clara Bow! Who would have thought that the great "It" girl of the middle '20s would be forced out of business by a new crop of glamour girls who could talk as well as be photographed? The sound slate of 1928 washes up all those hotcha babies, sparing only Joan Crawford, who until 1937, holds her own against all comers.

Problem of Future

I wonder which of the big movie shots of 1938 will still be active in 1943. Will Robert Taylor still be public heartbeat No. 1? Will Errol Flynn still make headlines with his naughty boy behaviour in the studios? How about Bette Davis, Cary Grant, Clark Gable, Carole Lombard, Tyrone Power, Spencer Tracy, Sonja Henie and Shirley Temple? And what about veterans Norma Shearer, William Powell, Claudette Colbert, Ronald Colman, Garbo and Gary Cooper? How many of them, by 1943, will have drowned in the tide of the public's desire for new movie meat?

Maybe there won't be any flesh-and-blood stars at all in 1943. The current popularity of Walt Disney's family of animated lovables might swell to such a degree that there will be no market at all for live emoters. Be kind of humiliating to be rubbed out by a cartoon, wouldn't it?

U.S. Stars May Appear In British Films

Claudette Colbert, Gary Cooper, W. C. Fields, Fred MacMurray, George Raft and Bing Crosby may make films in England, says the "Herald's" film correspondent.

Mr. David E. Rose, who arrived in London recently to prepare British production plans on a large scale for the Paramount Company, said that he believed in bringing over some of the studio's contract stars.

British artists, playing with them would thus be helped towards fame with United States audiences.

The success of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, whose "Yank at Oxford" is being followed by "The Citadel," now in the making at Denham, has been noted by Paramount, Mr. Rose admitted.

"I am strongly in favour of making some of our films here, especially those with a British or European atmosphere," he said.

"Nationality is a valuable factor, and it is simpler to get correctness in detail and casting if such pictures are made in proper surroundings.

"It is also cheaper."

One of the stories contemplated is Rudyard Kipling's "The Light That Failed."

Paramount has already acquired for world distribution two British pictures just completed—"Stolen Life," starring Elisabeth Bergner with Michael Redgrave, and "A Royal Divorce," in which Ruth Chatterton plays Empress Josephine.

Twenty trained nurses, in full uniform and with complete equipment, were in attendance while the roller skating sequence was filmed for "The Chaser." An emergency hospital was set up on the sound stage under supervision of Dr. Helen Jones, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio physician.

Free Advertising In Pictures

Efforts of Firms to Have Products Mentioned or Displayed in Films

Motion picture producers have been selling out the exhibitors to commercial advertisers for the past six months and must stop the practice at once or face court action for violation of contract says an American writer.

This was the ultimatum hurled recently at the motion picture producers and distributors, comprising all major film-making groups, by showmen throughout the United States. Exhibitors insist that acceptance of money on the part of the producers of motion pictures for direct or indirect sales messages from national advertisers is a violation of a long-established Hays office code. Further, they assert, acceptance of such advertising is not only undermining the entertainment value of motion pictures, but is a flagrant attempt to usurp trading powers that do not belong to the producers.

"Our screens are owned and controlled by us," declared a prominent chain theatre operator, "and no producer has the right by practice or law to use them for advertising purposes. If money is derived from such deals, it rightfully belongs to us.

"But exhibitors have no intention of turning their theatres or the pictures they show over to advertisers. Further, we intend to see that producers live up to their obligations as set forth in our contracts."

Since January 1, the number of movie studio lobbyists representing big advertising agencies in Hollywood has almost doubled, and a check on pictures released during the first six months of the year indictates clearly their overtures have been meeting with some success.

"Scotch and Soda"

The extent of the ad men's campaigning is reflected in an incident of last winter, when the representative of a certain liquor group descended on the Hollywood colony with the avowed determination to induce film makers to put a check on repeated references to "Scotch and soda" in barroom and cocktail party sequences.

Sales of rye, bourbon and other drinks were slipping, it was declared, because of the tremendous indirect plugging given to Scotch on the screen.

There have been many recent conspicuous examples of bad taste on the part of greedy producers and employes in accepting ad pay-offs, some so boldly obvious that audiences have tittered audibly over them. No commodity escaped. Stoves, ice boxes, carpet sweepers and vacuum cleaners, household goods, foods, drugs—everything that has any sales possibility now seems to be finding a way into movies via the greased palm.

In a picture released by a major studio recently, the leading male character of the story collapsed in death beneath a huge poster advertising a well known brand of candy. Two children were discussing automobiles in a scene and one said, "My daddy owns a (naming the make of the car) because it's best."

One big city hotel is said to have paid a studio employee a large sum in "due bills" to have its name mentioned in a line of dialogue. Steamship lines are reported offering free transportation for boosting ocean travel, and two agents have a standing offer of a case of whisky to any studio employee who can get a bottle displayed showing the brand label.

The recent arrival in Hollywood of Will Hays from New York and numerous conferences by him and his staff with production and publicity executives of the various studios are indications that the screen's governing body may actually get down to business on a serious attempt to rid the industry of a grave menace.

First Movie Hero To Play Again

Walter Cameron, who set the styles for screen he-men 32 years ago, when he became filmland's first hero in "The Great Train Robbery," first story-telling picture ever made, is going to return to motion pictures.

Cameron was signed up for a role in David O. Selznick's next production, "Made for Each Other," which will co-star Carole Lombard and James Stewart. It will be his first film part, save for occasional work as a long-distance double in riding scenes, since he retired from the flickers in 1922.

Long before the public ever knew there was such a thing as a star, Cameron was contributing to motion picture history. In "The Great Train Robbery" he was the sheriff. This was the film that started the motion picture industry on its way to billion dollar proportions. It changed films from a freak and curiosity to the world's leading medium of dramatic entertainment.

Now 69 years old, Cameron makes a business of renting horses, carriages and similar items for motion pictures.

Modern Waltz and Apache Dance

Vladimir and Galia, ballroom dancers and headliners of the floor show at the Ambassador Ballroom, and who for the past few weeks have been a strong drawing card at the cabaret will end their present engagement tomorrow night. Their sensational interpretation of the Apache dance has proved of such strong appeal that at the request of the management they will repeat the number again tonight and tomorrow night. For their second number tonight they will offer a modern waltz. The Ambassador seems to have regained its former position as one of the most popular cabarets in Shanghai, judging from the nightly attendance. The cabaret is air-conditioned, remains open all night and has more than 100 hostesses.

Team to Conclude Engagement

It is announced by Mr. Sol Greenberg, manager of the Casanova Ballroom, that under the new policy of the management every Wednesday night will be Hot Dog Night which will be served free of charge after midnight. On all other nights fresh potato chips or salted peanuts will be served. On Sunday night Nikitina and Svetlanoff will end their long engagement. Although the team has appeared nightly for many weeks, they never failed to change their routines each week, presenting two numbers nightly and three on Saturdays. One of the biggest drawing cards of the Casanova is the dance band—Apollo's Gauchos. The ballroom employs foreign hostesses, opens at 9 p.m. and closes at 5 a.m. The modern air-cooling system keeps the cabaret comfortable and well-ventilated.

The Hollywood Gardens

Inadvertently postponed because of the rainy spell, the Special Feature Night of the Hollywood Gardens originally scheduled for the week-end, successfully was held last night.

The last performance, which was enthusiastically received by a large crowd, will take place tonight.

Headlining the added attractions is the "Tableau d'Art," staged by the beautiful chorines of the Hollywood Follies. As another special feature the Garden offers a harmonica concert by the China Harmonica Society. There will also be special dance music by a crack Filipino orchestra.

The usual features, in the nature of hansom-cab and horseback riding and tandem cycling will be further supplemented by a fireworks display, games and sideshows.

Picture Flown Across Atlantic Ocean

An enterprising piece of showmanship that deserves recognition is the feat accomplished by the Fox Movietone News in getting here at record speed the moving picture account of the visit to Paris of King George and Queen Elizabeth. The film was flown by the pick-a-back plane across the Atlantic in 24 hours, was printed and shown to Lowell Thomas for his news comment, and then, 24 hours later, was on the transcontinental plane on its way to San Francisco to make the Pacific hop. Included in this reel are the first pictures of Mr. Corrigan's arrival in Dublin.

The film will be shown at the Grand in connection with "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

MGM is enjoying vast success with "Test Pilot," and has another in preparation tentatively called "Ladybirds," Paramount has "Men With Wings." Twentieth-Century-Fox has an untitled biggie preparing. So has Universal. So has Samuel Goldwyn with "Transatlantic Flight."

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

BREATHLESS SUSPENSE

Desirable as it may be, it is difficult to keep away from the subject which is engrossing the attention of the whole world, and giving statesmen in Europe one of the most anxious, if not the most anxious of times they have had for practically the last quarter of a century. Thus while the situation with regard to the Czechoslovakian dispute appears to be clearing up to some extent, and the immediate issues becoming more closely defined, it is realized that the avoidance of the dangers which confront Europe depend largely upon the personal view which Der Fuehrer may eventually decide to take of the matter, the extent of the concessions which the Czech Government is prepared to make, and the extent and nature of the outside influences upon the Sudeten Germans, and the spirit in which the latter meet the proposals of Dr. Hodza. That the Czech Government has decided to make further proposals involving some retreat from the position it originally took up, is the general tenour of the latest messages. It is even stated that the revised proposals have been presented to the Sudeten leaders, and that the latter are not prepared to accept them. Well informed sources in the absence of official pronouncements state that the Governments proposals go the length of suggesting something in the nature of a canton system for the Sudetens somewhat analogous with that in vogue in Switzerland, while on the other hand it is suggested that what the Sudetens now require is some sort of scheme which would place their areas in conditions somewhat approaching those governing the case of Northern Ireland. It does not seem greatly to matter which of the two schemes ultimately proves acceptable, though it must always be remembered that while the text of the present dispute consists of the wrongs of which the Sudeten Germans complain at the hands of the Czechoslovakians, the motive behind it all is the mutual desire of the former and Herr Hitler's government to be absorbed and to absorb them into the German Reich. The ultimate end of Germany and the Sudetens is anschluss, and therein is to be found the real difficulty in arriving at an amicable solution. Hence the seriousness of the situation, for Herr Hitler has to decide in the course of the next few days whether for the time being he will abandon this portion of his policy, or seek to carry it through despite all the representations which have been made.

For that reason his forthcoming speech at Nuremberg will be awaited with some anxiety. There are plenty of encouraging factors in the situation which indicate that even now the scales are weighted in favour of a peaceful settlement, at least for the time being. It is inconceivable that the main body of public opinion in Germany has any enthusiasm for war, or that even German military opinion looks to anything but a sharp struggle leading to an inexpensive victory. That view is reinforced by the very real knowledge which must by now have been borne in upon them, that with the extension of hostilities which it has now been made plain would be inevitable, any war arising out of adventures into Czechoslovakia cannot be a short one, and certainly not one of a few months for which alone Germany appears to be completely fitted. The strange silence of the Italian Government and Press can only be read in one way. The Austrian anschluss was an unpleasant awakening for Italian public opinion when it realized that Germany was now at the Brenner Pass: extension into Czechoslovakia means the further growth of German influence in the Danubian basin at the expense of Italy, and a consequent increase in the price which Rome has been paying for adherence to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis. It is no wonder then that no particular enthusiasm is being shown for the German cause in Italy. This is all the more natural when it is realized that the action of France and Great Britain is not directed against Fascism in whatever form it may exist, but is inspired by a desire to insist upon the sanctity of treaties, and to restore to the world some degree of its former international morality. There is no reason whatever why Italy should become involved in any struggle which may eventuate—though it is devoutly hoped it will not—unless owing to commitments which have already been made, for not only is she not in any danger from British and French policies in this matter, but is likely to benefit from whatever improvement may be effected in the Central European situation.

The impression seems to be formed by some Germans that in the ultimate event Britain will not fight, and that the behaviour of Whitehall has been merely a gigantic bluff. It is probable that that opinion is fathered by the desire, but it should be apparent to any students of contemporaneous history that the last thing Great Britain would again attempt to do would be to bluff. Not only that, her commitments to France are now so definite, they have been so recently reiterated, that were Britain to fail to keep her word, she would stand despised in the eyes of the world, and bereft of an ally from whom she cannot afford to part. There is a tendency in militarist nations to regard those, uninspired by the same sentiments, as effete and incompetent, lacking in the necessary moral strength to fight. That idea seems to have been apparent in the minds of the English rulers when the American colonists commenced the War of Independence, and, ill-equipped as they were for the struggle, fought it to a successful conclusion. Consequently it would not be merely stupid, but the height of insanity to father any such idea that at this late hour Britain might go back on her word and leave France in the lurch. Those who hold such views have not the slightest appreciation of the realities of the situation and are deluding themselves with fond dreams. It does not matter how the respective roles are filled, but conditions in Europe resemble the approach of the irresistible force upon the immovable object. Should they actually come into contact the heat engendered will undoubtedly create an explosion. Can that be avoided? The answer is definitely affirmative, for so long as there is no armed intervention in Czechoslovakia the forces of France and Great Britain will not move; so long as an opportunity is given the opposing interests in the first named to compose their differences Europe will not be forced into war. That is the situation in a nutshell, and the next moves will have to come from Herr Hitler and Herr Henlein. Upon them rests the gravest possible responsibility, perhaps more upon the former than the latter. If the determination immediately to enforce the anschluss outweighs all the other considerations which are to be found in the other pan of the scales, then it must be war, a war which no reasonable man wants. The only man who can decide is Der Fuehrer: the stage is set and the world waits anxiously to know what he will do.

Police Training

A change in the London Metropolitan Police which should find an interesting reflection in Shanghai takes place today when Lieut.-Col. G. H. R. Halland relinquishes his post as Commandant of the Hendon Police School, the first police stag college in England, and becomes an Inspector of Constabulary. Col. Halland is no stranger to Shanghai, nor are his name and reputation without distinction in police circles for he was one of the pioneers in scientific police training. He entered the Punjab police in 1908 and after war service he was appointed Principal of the Punjab Police School, a post he held for five years. He was attached to the G.H.Q., of the Shanghai Defence Force in 1927 and subsequently to the North China Command. After further service in India and England he was appointed head of the newly-formed police school at Hendon, and although the innovation created some good-natured scepticism in official and public circles, who wanted their guardians of the law trained in the tried and trusted methods of the notebook, the truncheon and the beat, the school proved a success and is being expanded. Not only from among promising youngsters in the ranks but men were taken direct from civil life to receive training fitting them for appointment to higher ranks after only a brief period in the other school—that of experience. About 130 students have graduated since the school's foundation and for the new term, starting on September 11, there will be 55 students, 15 being newcomers and nine of them serving officers. Of the remaining six, three passed competitive examinations and three were selected for their specialist qualifications. Whether the serving policeman makes a better officer than the man from civilian life receiving the same school training has not been settled with any degree of certainty as the school has been established only four years. Nevertheless, the tendency is in favour of the serving officer with experience, and four men, all with previous service in the Metropolitan Police, took all the eight prizes available for passing out students in July.

Protest Rejected

It is to be regretted that the Japanese Foreign Office spokesman has announced that the Japanese Government intends to reject the protest against the aerial attack on the C.N.A.C. passenger plane in South China last week, and to have indicated that the rejection will be upon factual grounds, that the official Japanese version did not agree with the American version based on the evidence of the three survivors. It is not quite clear which version of the story the Japanese will adhere to, for they are apparently in the possession of two. It will be remembered that originally the Japanese admitted that Navy planes had machine-gunned the aircraft both in the air and after it had been forced down, but a latter account issued in various consulates flatly denied that the Chinese civilian plane had been fired on. It is difficult to see how the latter story can possibly be accepted now that the bodies of the victims have been found and their wounds ascertained. That would then leave them with their original version, which most certainly affords them no factual grounds for the anticipated rejection. The report that the local Japanese military authorities were drafting a declaration according to which all civilian planes in China war zones would be subject to immediate attack, except under certain conditions, looks very much as though they were engaged in that fruitless pastime of closing the stable door after the horse had been spirited away. But even then it might serve to avoid further similar incidents. If that is so it is a step in the right direction, though the impression is unavoidable that the drafting of declarations with all manner of exceptions is not the best way of dealing with the trouble. Exceptions do so often provide those diplomatic loopholes which at times prove exasperating, and the Japanese authorities would be better advised to announce that they will shoot down Chinese civilian planes wherever encountered than seek to complicate matters by establishing a series of regulations which it is always possible to deny were ever obeyed.

THE evening callers were chatting with their hosts when there came a patter of little feet along the hall.

"Hush," whispered the hostess, raising her hand; "the children are coming with their good-night message. It always gives me a feeling of reverence to hear them. They are so much nearer to Heaven than we, and they speak from the fullness of their little hearts never so freely as when the dark has come. Listen."

"No; that was even worse."

"But surely you got home a bit over Goodwood!"

The bookie sighed more heavily.

"No; then, again, I lost a packet."

His friend then said, "Well, why don't you give it up? It doesn't seem to be much good to you."

"Give it up?" asked the bookmaker in surprise. "Don't be a fool, man—why, it's my living."

On the Other Foot

LITTLE John had been naughty and his mother had to punish him. Afterwards, talking it over with the child, his mother said: "John, are you sorry for being naughty?"

"Yes, Mother, I am," answered John.

"Well," asked his mother, "do you know what being sorry means?" It means you won't do it any more!"

A short time later John was naughty again, and there followed the inevitable punishment. Then John asked his mother:

"Mummy, are you sorry you had to punish me?"

"Yes, John, I'm very sorry."

"Well, Mummy," said the child, "you know what being sorry means!"

Dominions Give Fullest Support to Britain

Commonwealth Nations Urge All Efforts for Peace But No More "At Any Price"; Cabinet Unanimously Endorses Policy on Czech Issue

London, Aug. 31.

"THAT the time is past when it was necessary to preserve peace at any price," the Dominions advised Great Britain when the Cabinet consulted them prior to the momentous meeting at Downing Street yesterday morning, it is now understood.

The Government took their decisions only after lengthy and constant conferences with members of the British Commonwealth. During their exchanges of advice and information, the Dominions expressed unanimously the opinion that it was necessary to make maximum efforts to secure European peace; and that these efforts must remain compatible with the interests of the Commonwealth. They added, however, that it is no longer absolutely necessary to keep the peace at any price.

Competent observers declare that the unity of the Commonwealth is evident today and that it is obvious the Dominions would give their unreserved support if British democracy were called upon to take action in Europe to protect its own interests and the interests of peace.—Havas.

Two Main Factors Stated

London, Aug. 31.

Settlement of the Czech-Sudeten problem, on which hinges to a large extent the peace of Europe, depends upon but two factors, Reuter's Diplomatic Correspondent is informed. These are firstly, the extent of the concessions which the Czech Government is making, and is prepared to make; and secondly, the extent and nature of the influence exerted from outside on the Sudeten Germans, and the spirit in which the Sudetens will meet the proposals of the Czech Government.

There is no tendency here either to minimize or to exaggerate the gravity of the decisions which will have to be taken in the immediate future by both sides in Czechoslovakia, and by their friends outside.

No Further Declarations

Following Sir John Simon's speech on August 27, it is understood that no further statement would be made by the British Government in the communique issued following the meeting of the British Cabinet.

The meeting was attended by all ministers with the exception of Lord Zetland and Lord Stanley.

Sir Nevile Henderson, British Ambassador in Berlin, was also in attendance.

The meeting lasted for two hours and 45 minutes.

An official statement issued from No. 10 Downing Street, states:—

"The Foreign Secretary made a full report on the international situation, and at the conclusion of the meeting the ministers expressed their entire agreement with the action already taken, and the policy to be pursued in the future.

"No further meeting was arranged, but the ministers will be remaining within reach of London."

Conciliatory Policy Endorsed

The policy which was endorsed at yesterday's meeting of ministers, according to official circles, may be summed up as the concentration by the British Government of all their efforts on assisting in the peaceful solution of the Czech-Sudeten problem.

While the opportunity remains, these circles point out, of reaching a settlement by negotiation and conciliation, the British Government, who for their part will do nothing which might heighten the tension, will continue to look on both sides of the Czech problem, in order to avoid any aggravation of the dispute.

Lord Runciman, to whom tributes have been paid by newspaper correspondents in Prague, is known to be using his influence, not without effect, on both the Czech Government and the Sudeten German party, with a view to promoting an agreement, official circles add.

The British Government, it is learned, is hoping for early evidence of a revival of the state of active negotiation.

Encouraging Factors Noted

Both in the press and in official quarters here, full weight is being given to the encouraging factors in the situation.

Among these, it is considered, is an increasing realization of the responsibilities which the present situation imposes, and the appearance of a growing willingness to accept them, and to make the necessary concessions.

Another encouraging factor, it is thought, is the good conduct of the Czech police, and the readiness with which the authorities have undertaken the examination of incidents and with which they have admitted points where they themselves, or the Czech crowds, appeared to be at fault.

It has been observed with satisfaction in London that the self-defence order issued by the Sudeten leaders to their followers at the week-end does not appear to have been followed by an appreciable relaxation of discipline.

On the Czech side, it is confidently expected that the Prague Government will do its utmost to avoid incidents.

H.M. Envoy Returning

Sir Nevile Henderson, British Ambassador to Germany, will probably return to Berlin today, Reuter understands.

In common with other diplomatic representatives in Berlin, Sir Nevile is understood to have accepted Herr Hitler's invitation to be present at the Nazi Party Congress, which opens at Nuremburg on Monday.

While hopes are still strong in British circles that the present tense situation will soon resolve itself, a mood of pessimism prevails in Berlin, according to reports from the German capital.

If anything, this appears to have been deepened by the news of yesterday's meeting of the British Cabinet in London, which is regarded in German circles as confirming the view that the British Government is "siding with the Czechs."

"Before we can express an opinion, however, we must see what Dr. Edouard Benes (President of Czechoslovakia), is offering to the Sudetens," one authority told Reuter.

Attacks on Britain Lessens

"The situation is ripe for a solution," he added.

"Der Angriff," mouthpiece of Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Propaganda Minister, shoulders the burden of the German Anti-Czech campaign with a tirade as fierce as ever.

The tone adopted by other newspapers, however, is noticeably less violent.

France Optimistic Over Outcome

Cabinet Reaffirms Own Pledge to Be Carried Out; Britain Praised

Paris, Aug. 31.

Optimism prevails here that Great Britain will succeed in settling the Czech-Sudeten crisis.

"Le Temps," after paying handsome tribute to British diplomatic action hitherto, adds that the crisis is certain to be rapidly settled if Berlin recommends to the Sudeten Party moderation and conciliation.

It is reported here that the British Cabinet has decided to leave Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister, and Lord Halifax, Foreign Secretary, a free hand in Czechoslovakia.

The belief in political circles is that Sir Nevile Henderson, British Ambassador to Germany, will, on his return to Berlin, convey a letter of the utmost friendliness, but intimating in the clearest language that a peaceful settlement of the Sudeten question rests on Herr Hitler alone.

Herr Henlein, according to Paris' version of the letter, is "not a free agent."

Cabinet Reaffirms Stand

Following the unanimous approval given by the Cabinet on August 30 to the policy followed by M. Georges Bonnet, Foreign Minister, during the past month, well-informed quarters state that the position in France as regards Czechoslovakia remains unchanged.

France, these same quarters emphasize, "will execute all her obligations under her pact with Czechoslovakia."

Gen. Edmond Vuillemin, Chief of the General Staff of the French Air Force, left no doubt on this point in the minds of the German Ministers during his recent visit to the Reich, official circles declare.

It is thus considered that any demarche to Germany, recalling France's undertakings towards Czechoslovakia, would be superfluous, particularly as it is desired to avoid any action which might be misinterpreted by Germany.—Reuter.

Rome Much Impressed By London Moves

Britain Seen Maintaining Conciliatory Attitude

Rome, Aug. 31.

The results of yesterday's Cabinet meeting are considered here as a favourable sign that Great Britain still believes that conciliation may solve the problem.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the British Prime Minister, it is thought, may make a personal appeal to Herr Adolf Hitler in order to prevent the atmosphere from deteriorating.

Britain's peace moves are not interpreted here as being of an anti-Fascist character.—Reuter.

Press Shows Uncertainty

Rome, Aug. 31.

Political quarters here now admit that the outcome of the Sudeten problem depends chiefly upon the attitude of Britain and the conciliatory spirit of Germany. If tension in the Czech situation is to be dispersed, the firmness shown by Britain will have a decisive influence, it is intimated.

Newspapers, while seeming to support without reserve the German point of view, still give the impression of being rather "uncertain." They voice their approval of the Reich's stand in soft language, and direct commentaries are rare, the news organs limiting themselves chiefly to the publication of long despatches analyzing reactions in the various capitals.

"Tribuna" writes, "The Press in the big democracies, particularly in Britain, criticizes German newspapers. We want to ask what the British would do if some millions of their people found themselves in a situation similar to that of the Sudetens and had to suffer daily insults?"—Havas.

Italy Neutral Observer

Rome, Aug. 31.

Fascists close to the Government asserted today that Italy would not fight the western European nations solely to aid the Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia.

They said that Italy's ultimate stand if war breaks out—in spite of the Rome-Berlin axis—would be dictated by the extent of hostilities, the duration of the clash and the powers involved.

Italy's present position, it was explained, is that of a neutral observer who is friendly to Germany. Informed Fascist quarters indicated that in the event Great Britain remains neutral, Italy would be willing to stand by even if France became involved.

Despite the serious tone of reports and official statements on the Czech crisis, Italians seemed to believe that neither the Czechs nor Herr Adolf Hitler desired war. They cited Herr Hitler's previous statement that he disliked an ideological war.—United Press.

British Charge Sounds Poland's Attitude

Warsaw, Aug. 31.

Mr. Clifford Norton, British Charge d'Affaires, yesterday called on Col. Joseph Beck, Polish Foreign Minister. It was thought that the call was in connection with the Czech crisis, and the Polish viewpoint on the problem.—Reuter.

Fresh Path in Sudeten Maze Now Cleared

Czech Concessions Go Far to Meet Germans

Prague, Aug. 31.

With the greatest secrecy surrounding yesterday's meeting between Dr. Edouard Benes, President of Czechoslovakia, and the Sudeten Leaders, Herr Ernst Kundt and Herr Sebedowsky, the meeting, it is considered, would obviously begin fresh contacts.

It was considered that the meeting might mark the turning-point in the whole situation.

The reason for the proposed meeting between Dr. Benes and Herr Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Germans, being put off, is not explained, but it is thought that possibly Dr. Benes preferred to see Herr Kundt rather than Herr Henlein.

Herr Henlein, it is stated, never took the oath of allegiance, whereas Herr Kundt, as leader of the Parliamentary Party, has been an opponent, but has never been stamped as an enemy of the present regime.

Czech Limits Defined

Herr Kundt and Herr Sebedowsky are reputed to be moderate Sudetens, and there is reason to believe that Dr. Benes explained to them how far the Czech Government was prepared to go towards a mutual agreement on principles.

If the Germans consider that the Government proposals meet their views on the two questions of principle on which they are expected to take their stand, namely, recognition of their juridical entity and full equality of status, then the negotiations can be resumed with some hope of success, official circles here declare.

The next 24 hours, it is considered, should show whether there is any prospect of renewed negotiations.

In view of the very far-reaching character of the Czech Government's concessions, official quarters add, the outlook is "not desperate."

Nature of Czech Concessions

The Czech Government is now understood to be working on a plan based on the Swiss Constitution, whereby the country would be divided into a score of cantons.

These would include three Sudeten German cantons.

The Sudetens, under the new scheme, would have an independent Diet, as would Bohemia, Slovakia and Sub-Carpathian Russia.

A general Parliament would meet in Prague, to which delegates from the various cantons would be elected. This Parliament would deal with questions affecting the whole country, such as finance, foreign affairs and defence.

All these proposals, it is learned, are still in elementary form.

It is pointed out that before they can be discussed in detail with the Sudetens, the questions of principles laid down by Herr Kundt must first be solved.—Reuter.

Publication of Plans Urged

London, Aug. 30.

Some Government quarters favour proposals that Britain should suggest to Prague that the new Czech proposals for the minorities settlement be published as soon as these propositions are communicated to the Sudeten German Party, it was learnt here today. They are in favour of such a move since they claim such publication would inform world opinion as to the extent of the Czech concessions.—Havas.

No Hint Of Sudeten Reply

Prague, Aug. 31.

Hitherto there has been no indication as to how the Sudetens will reply to the initiative of Dr. Edouard Benes, President of Czechoslovakia, who yesterday interviewed the Sudeten leaders. Herr Ernst Kundt and Herr Sebedowsky.

Radical elements among the Sudeten, however, are know to prefer no compromise. They would rather delay things until Herr Hitler has had an opportunity of making a dramatic gesture at Nuremberg.

One the other hand, a considerable section of the Sudetens is believed to desire nothing more than wide autonomy within the anschluss.—Reuter.

"Mother of Guerillas" Due in Hongkong

Chinese Woman Appealing For Funds

Hongkong, Aug. 31.

Mme. Chao, "mother of Chinese guerillas", is expected to arrive here shortly from Hankow.

Mme. Chao earned her surname through her activities as propaganda agent for irregulars. She toured the country soliciting funds for guerilla bands whose task is to harass the Japanese by raids in territories occupied by Japanese troops.

Mme. Chao, whose son is the leader of a guerilla band operating in North China, will ask Chinese merchants and financial quarters here to support the guerilla cause by contributing funds.—Trans-Ocean.

Sterling Dips Below U.S. Dollar Parity; First in Three Years

London Equalization Conserves Gold; Real Marks Of "War Scare" Selling Not Seen; Erratic Moves

London, Aug. 31.

BRISK bidding for the American dollar from the majority of the Continental centres featured the opening of the London foreign exchange market today. Although the British Exchange fund supplied dollars liberally, the sterling-dollar rate dipped below the former parity of 486.66 cents.

While there was still a fair demand for dollars for commercial account, foreign exchange circles unanimously described the current strength of the dollar as a reflection of the nervousness existing regarding the political situation in Central Europe.

The extent of the present nervousness and uncertainty may be gauged by the fact that all buying was for "spot" exchange, with "forward" transactions, except where connected with gold purchases, relatively few and far between.

At the close of the market today, the sterling-dollar rate was quoted at 485.81 cents.—Reuter.

Real War "Scare" Discounted

London, Aug. 30.

Sterling dropped below dollar parity for the first time in three years today, simultaneously and rapidly weakening against the Guilder, Swiss Franc and Belga as the Equalization Fund stood aside and permitted the decline.

Experts, however, said that the market lacked the earmarks of a real war scare which, they pointed out, would prompt continentals hastily to repartriate their funds whereas today they actually sold their own currencies to acquire the dollar.

Britons, likewise, bought Government stocks, hedging against the trade recession which, it was emphasized, they would not do if war were near.

Many attributed the weakness of sterling to Britain's adverse trade balance and unattractive economic position instead of war fears.

Popular Notion Exploded

Exploding the popular notion that sterling would not be allowed to fall under the ancient parity with the dollar at the rate of 4.86⅛, bears caused sterling to drop below parity for the first time since May 15, 1935.

During the day there were violent fluctuations, sterling close at 4.85⅛.

Faced with a tidal demand for dollars, partly from the continent, the British Equalization Fund abandoned its defence of sterling and decided to conserve gold stock. On this move the price of gold jumped up to 142s. 11d., the highest since May 11, 1935—a price so steep that it was interesting only to hoarders who took a moderate amount.

Except for the French Franc, which was steady, the continental currencies fluctuated unusually, turning weak against sterling throughout the morning and then strong against sterling in the afternoon. This caused considerable anguish to dealers making an effort to avoid losses.

The steadiness of the French Franc was considered as evidence that currency movements were inspired less by fear of war—since war presumably would put the great strain on the French Franc—than by considerations either for profit or the stability of assets.—United Press.

U.S. Adversely Affected

Washington, Aug. 30.

Some Government economists interpreted today the susceptibility of stocks to war scares as reflecting widespread business belief that war was depressive instead of a stimulant to American business.

The current reaction was partially attributed to the recent negative world economic and particularly agricultural developments on which war news was like a trigger.

Some economists said the situation was dissimilar to 1914 when war stocks and industrial activity boomed after a dip.

Most of the European nations then were not industrially prepared for an extended conflict, while now most of the countries emphasize the supply aspects of military warfare, they said. Most of the countries are fully rearmed or possess full size armaments industries capable of supplying or converting most materials into essential war necessities.

Britain's essential industries would be chemical works, electric, automotive and aeronautical plants. There would also be emergency food supplies which would restrict British food markets.—United Press.

Gold Shipped to U.S.

New York, Aug. 30.

Shipments of gold continue to come into the United States, $2,000,000 worth of the metal being brought today by the Aquitania. Last week, gold valued at about $12,000,000 was brought in.—Havas.

New Civilian Wireless Reserve for R.A.F.

Second Line to Signals Branch Intended by Organization

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, Aug. 31.

A new Civilian Wireless Reserve of the Royal Air Force was announced last night.

The Reserve, in which, it is hoped, wireless amateurs will serve, is intended to build up an adequate, efficient reserve behind the signals branch of the Air Force, which would be immediately available in an emergency.

Training will mostly be undertaken by volunteers at home on their own sets, and will consist of regular exercises broadcast from the Air Ministry.

In addition, volunteers will occasionally attend at Air Force stations for exercises and lectures.—Reuter.

Marseilles Dockers Refuse Overtime

Other Trade Unions Expected To Support Dockers

Marseilles, Aug. 31.

A meeting of dockers, held yesterday evening, decided to refuse to comply with the new regulations regarding hours of work, and also to refuse to work overtime. A meeting of representatives of all trades unions will be called today to support the dockers.

The executive of the Paris Region of workers' unions, in a manifesto issued yesterday, attacks the decrees passed by the Cabinet to extend working hours, and speed up the output of arms.

The manifesto calls on each union to be ready for any action which the C.G.T. (French T.U.C.) might require. The Administrative Committee of the C.G.T. is meeting at 4 p.m. today.—Reuter.

Manchoukuo Protests To Soviet Consulate

"Purge" in Russia Leading To Naturalization Rush

Harbin, Aug. 31.

In a protest to the Soviet Consul at Harbin yesterday the Manchoukuo Government demanded the punishment of M. Krinovisky Liskov and three other attaches of the Soviet Consulate who were alleged to have attacked a police box on August 24 near the Consulate and assaulted a White Russian policeman. Indemnification for damages was asked.—Domei.

Naturalization Sought

Changchun, Aug. 31.

Soviet citizens residents in Manchoukuo who have renounced their allegiance to Moscow and taken Manchoukuo citizenship certificates now number 7,600, official figures released here today revealed.

In Harbin alone 2,000 Soviet citizens have become naturalized Manchoukuo citizens, while 1,800 others are applying for naturalization papers.

The recent remarkable increase in applications by Soviet nationals for naturalization was ascribed by officials here to the "bloody purge" now going on in the U.S.S.R.—Domei.

German Public Reported to Be Uneasy And Much Disturbed

War Dreaded; Slight Interest Shown in Fate Of Sudetens; Domestic Hardships Heavy

Berlin, Aug. 31.

The German press continues its violent attacks against London and Prague, but, rather than carry the public with it, it is only succeeding in giving the public generally a bad fit of nerves.

The majority of Germans, judging by exhaustive conversations in various parts of the country by Reuters Correspondents in Germany, are profoundly uninterested in the future of the Sudeten Germans, and dread the barest possibility of war.

This public uneasiness co-incides with serious misgivings, coupled with a sense of personal hardship, especially among the working classes, where long hours, inadequate pay and overtime have laid burdens on many households.

There is no doubt that public feeling is discontented, especially in Berlin, and the large industrial districts, and the authorities realize this.

It is possible that such a realization may influence them in handling the Sudeten crisis more moderately.

Too much, however, should not be built on this.

Diplomatic observers point out that it is equally possible that, just because of the discontent, the German leaders may, as has happened before in history, be induced to plunge the country into some adventure, in an effort to weld the people together, and thereby nip the discontent in the bud before it can crystallize in any way.—Reuter.

New British Demarche Made in Rome

Rome, Aug. 31.

Sir Noel Charles, British Charge d'Affaires, called on Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, yesterday evening, regarding allegations of renewed Italian intervention in Spain.

Sir Noel, it is understood, was acting under fresh instructions from the British Government, which is taken to indicate that Count Ciano's recent reply was not entirely satisfactory.

The conversation lasted only fifteen minutes and it is not known whether Count Ciano was able to give any further information. Yesterday's conversation was the fourth within three weeks.—Reuter.

All Soviet Admirals Now Executed

Devastating Result of New "Purge" Revealed By "The Times"

London, Aug. 31.

The Riga correspondent of the "Times" today states that for the first time the Soviet Naval Ministry admitted that the chief Russian admirals and naval experts were shot a few months ago.

The correspondent adds that official announcements state that the G.P.U. have recently shot Admiral Orloff, Commander-in-Chief of the Red Navy, who represented the U.S.S.R. at the coronation of King George VI; Admiral Sivkoc, Commander of the Baltic Fleet, and Admiral Ludry, Head of the Naval Academy.

Others who are stated to have "disappeared" with the stigma of "traitors" or "enemies of the people" and therefore, according to "The Times" correspondent, "have almost certainly shared the same fate," include. Admiral Victoroff, Admiral Orloff's successor; Admiral Kireyeff, Commander of the Pacific Fleet, and Admiral Kadatsky, Commander of the Far Eastern Amur Flotilla.

The correspondent declares that "after this massacre, the Soviet Navy has not today a single officer who occupied a high post last year."

The correspondent states that the Ministry says the Admirals and experts "treacherously insisted on building a defensive navy" consisting of submarines and small units, whereas the U.S.S.R. "obviously required a strong navy, capable of offensive operations," with big battleships and cruisers.

These latter, it is added, are now in the course of being built.—Reuter.

Trotsky's Secretary's Body

Paris, Aug. 30.

A body recovered in the River Seine a few days ago is believed to be that of Rudolf Klement, former Secretary to Leon Trotsky and Administrative Secretary of the Fourth International, who disappeared in mysterious circumstances last July.

The body was recovered near Meulan, and bore signs of having remained immersed for a considerable length of time. Several of Klement's friends identified the corpse.

The French section of the Fourth International lodged a complaint with the authorities the day after Klement's disappearance accusing the Ogpu of having kidnapped him.

The police, however, were not convinced and stated that the body was in such a state of decomposition that it was practically impossible formally to identify it, but are pursuing their investigation.—Havas.

Injury to Stalin Denied

Moscow, Aug. 30.

Competent quarters formally denied today that M. Josef Stalin, Secretary-General of the Communist Party and "Iron man of Soviet Russia," had been injured in a motor car accident, as was reported in foreign Press despatches.—Havas.

More Trouble Breaks Out in Mandalay

Governor of Burma Urges Conciliation Efforts

Rangoon, Aug. 31.

At a meeting yesterday of leaders of all political shades of opinion, Sir Archibald Cochrane, Governor of Burma, appealed for immediate action in the restoration of good relations among the different communities.

In Mandalay, where a fresh outbreak of trouble occurred, the police, who have been heavily reinforced, were compelled to open fire on rioters.

Two Buddhist monks were wounded.—Reuter.

Chinese Hold Out on Yangtze

Japanese Claim 200,000 Outflanked at Lushan; Yellow River Position Captured

Hankow, Aug. 31.

SANGUINARY fighting continues on both banks of the Yangtze, according to a Chinese military communiqué. The Japanese are claimed to have been repulsed in attacks on Chinese positions two miles west of Juichang and also on the Kiukiang-Nanchang Railway south of Kiukiang.

In the Juichang sector, the communiqué asserts, the Japanese suffered two to three thousand casualties, while on the railway they left behind large quantities of ammunition and 30 dead.

The Chinese positions south of Juichang are said to be still intact despite repeated Japanese assaults.—Reuter.

Singtze, Aug. 31.

Their retreat cut off by the advance of Japanese columns converging from two directions upon Tehan, the strategically important town halfway between Kiukiang and Nanchang along the Nanzing railway, 200,000 Chinese troops defending the Lushan mountains today were faced with annihilation.

Advancing south from Juichang, a Japanese column today had successfully outflanked the Chinese fortifications at Maanshan, its vanguards reaching Paiyunshan and Chichashan, south of Mmshan, approximately halfway between Juichang and Tehan.

Operating out of Singtze, other Japanese units were marching along the Hehan highway through narrow passes between Lushan and Tungkuling mountains.—Domei.

Chinese Positions Bombed

Intensive activity was displayed by Japanese Army aircraft in the Juichang sector, on the southern bank of the Yangtze on Tuesday when mass raids were conducted against Chinese positions and troop concentrations in that area, a Japanese military spokesman claimed last night.

Mobilizing its entire strength at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, the spokesman continued, the military craft had succeeded in causing large-scale retreats of Chinese forces by incessant bombardment and machine-gunning, he asserted. Heavy losses were inflicted upon the Chinese, he declared.

Japanese on Yellow River

Peiping, Aug. 31.

Complete occupation of Fenglingtu was claimed yesterday by the Japanese spokesman, who stated that from this position the Japanese forces command Tungkwan, on the Lunghai Railway, with artillery.

The Japanese are now expected to attempt a crossing of the Yellow River, and either march towards Hankow or attack Sian, according to Japanese reports.—Reuter.

Japanese Deny Planes Downed By Chinese

Claim 17 Chinese Machines Were Destroyed

Seventeen British-built Gloster Gladiator combat biplanes, forming the entire Chinese force that rose to meet Japanese naval aircraft raiding Namyung, an important base on the Kwangtung-Hunan border, were "definitely ascertained" to have been shot down in a fierce combat on Tuesday, a communiqué issued by the Japanese China Seas Fleet command yesterday claimed. Two Japanese machines, one of them piloted by Lieut. Hideo Tejima, senior grade, were lost in the engagement, the announcement asserted. All other machines, it added, returned to their respective bases safely.

Chinese reports claimed that six Japanese machines had been downed by 19 Chinese combat 'planes at Namyung.

Raiding Chenyang, a major city in southern Hunan on the Canton-Hankow railway, Japanese naval 'planes were asserted to have destroyed three grounded aircraft at the aerodrome in addition to "various military establishments" within the town.

Intense anti-aircraft fire, the communiqué said, greeted the attackers but failed to score.

The concrete runway at the airdrome at Shaokwan, another important point on the Canton-Hankow railway in northern Kwangtung, was badly damaged, while hangars were totally destroyed by fire caused by direct bomb hits, according to the announcement. Chinese aircraft were not sighted either on the ground or in the air at Shaokwan, the communiqué stated.

Japanese planes were also active on all the Yangtze fronts.

Guerillas Wreck Tracks Near Tientsin

Railway Traffic Delayed For Five Hours

Peiping, Aug. 31.

For a total of five hours yesterday morning, railway traffic from Peiping to Shanhaikuan was brought to a standstill, as guerillas tore up the track on either side of Tientsin.

At Wangchuan, half-way between Tientsin and Peiping, guerillas tore up the track, and set fire to the station.

They then attacked the Japanese garrison near by, necessitating land re-inforcements and air units being sent from Peiping.

The number of guerillas now operating in East Hopei outnumbers the Japanese garrison along the railway, which is being subjected to daily attacks at various places.—Reuter.

Planes Give Chase

Tientsin, Aug. 31.

Japanese troops and planes yesterday were pursuing a band of Chinese Communist guerillas that attempted to destroy the railway at two points west and east of Lanfeng half way between Peiping and Tientsin on Monday night. Prompt action of railway guards repulsed the attackers and prevented much damage from being done. Train service was resumed as usual yesterday morning.

The guerillas were attached to the Eighth Route Army. They had been active in eastern Hopei but were driven back to the region between the Peiping-Tientsin and Tientsin-Pukow Railways.—Domei.

Tokyo Tightening Home Control

Preparations for Fall in National Spirit Made by Police Leaders

Tokyo, Aug. 31.

Japan's police today prepared for a possible let-down in the national spirit after the capture of Hankow by the Japanese forces by putting into effect a six-point programme adopted at two consecutive conferences of police chiefs. The last meeting, convoking prefectural police heads of western Japan, was held here on August 29.

The programme, outlined by Mr. Kiyoshi Honma, director of the Bureau of Police of the Home Office, and by Mr. Shigeo Shimidzu, chief of the Peace Preservation Section, was unanimously approved. It provides for:

1. A strict control and vigilance over possible subversive activities of Popular Front elements.
2. Curbing of pacifism based on superficial humanitarianism and extreme liberal ideas.
3. Anti-war speech and writings to be controlled.
4. Labour disputes started with motives of fomenting social unrest or class strife by exploiting the rise of prices and the consequent difficulty of living to be sternly controlled.
5. Economic police to tighten their control.
6. Strict guard to be kept against terroristic acts.—Domei.

Japanese Leaving Tientsin Concessions

Tokyo, Aug. 31.

All Japanese residents of the British and French Concessions in Tientsin, numbering about 1,800, decided to withdraw from the concessions within a fortnight in accordance with instructions from Japanese authorities, according to a press message from Tientsin tonight.

Evacuation orders were given to all Japanese organizations, firms and individuals in the two concessions by the Japanese Army headquarters in Tientsin after consultations with authorities concerned. The evacuation was decided upon, Army authorities said, because under the prevailing circumstances "it is useless to hope for amicable co-operation with the authorities of both concessions," who are alleged to show "no signs of sincere reciprocation of the Japanese approach for maintaining friendly relations."—Domei.

Vesuvius Erupts Again, Small Cone Sinks

Mass of Molten Lava Runs Down, Threatening Plains

Naples, Aug. 30.

Vesuvius, destructor of ancient Pompeii, went into action again today as molten rock poured out of its crater in a stream of lava that threatens the surrounding countryside with devastation.

The little cone of the huge volcano near this city has sunk into the mother cone: the first shocks of the great eruption levelling the place where the little crater previously broke out on the mountain.

A menacing stream of incandescent lava is now flowing northwards down the volcano's side, travelling at a speed of about 220 yards per hour. No houses have as yet gone down before the irresistible tide, but the fiery mass is gradually moving onto inhabited terrain.

The whole grandiose though terrifying sight may be seen from Naples itself. The awed population was forewarned of the spectacle to come when the low rumblings of subterranean explosions heralded the destruction of Vesuvius' little cone.—Havas.

Typhoon Threatening Tokyo Area

Extensive Damage to Crops Feared in Japan

Tokyo, Aug. 31.

Extensive damage to crops, possibly approaching the proportions of a national disaster, is expected to be left in the trail of a severe typhoon which is presently whistling in the direction of Tokyo.

The typhoon is expected to strike the capital between four and five o'clock tomorrow morning. The city is already being lashed by a severe wind and drenching rain.

The Tone river, which runs into Tokyo Bay, is rising steadily. It is feared that it will overflow its banks.

Farmers are extremely worried as, according to immemorial records, a typhoon on the 210th day from the beginning of Spring spells widespread ruin for crops. This day falls on September 1.—Reuter.

Lord Plymouth Returns To London

"Yellow Way" Men In Court

Self-Confessed Terrorists to Hear Judgment Saturday; Bombings Admitted

The names of Zang Nyoh-tsing and Zau Soong-dau, leader and sub-leader of the pro-Japanese terrorist gang named "Huang Tao Hui" or the "Yellow Way Society" were prominently mentioned at the First Special District Court yesterday when three of the five self-confessed members of the Society admitted to have been responsible for three of the five bombing incidents in the Settlement on June 12.

Both the 315-pound gang, ex-convict and now garrison commander of Shanghai-Nanking and Shanghai-Hangchow areas, and his chief assistant were implicated by the accused to have directed the terrorist operations. The accused were alleged to have visited 86 Jessfield Road, Special Service Section of the Japanese Army, and used Special Defence Force car for transportation between New Asia Hotel in Hongkew and the Jessfield address.

All the five accused were arrested by the Settlement Police recently. With the exception of the case against Shu Tuh-ling, the first accused, all the others, Zung Siau-mau, Tseu Nyoh-vung, Yang Zung-yien and Wong Chi-ching, will hear the judgment of the Court on Saturday. All were remanded yesterday on charges of committing offences against public order.

The Five Bombings

The five bombings took place on June 12 at the following places: the China Travel Service in Szechuen Road, the Hwa Tung Radio Broadcasting Station in Ningpo Road, Overseas Radio Station in Avenue Road, the Continental Emporium and the Radio Station XMHA in Race Course Road.

Three of the five accused were responsible for the following three bombing incidents: the China Travel Service, the Hwa Tung Radio Station and the Overseas Radio Station. According to the confession of the accused, the "Yellow Way Society" also directed the bombings of the other two places.

Zung Siau-mau, the second accused, told the Court that one Wu Teh-fah, still at large, and he received instructions from Zang Nyoh-tsing and Zau Soong-dau, leader and sub-leader of the Society to bomb the Hwa Tung radio station in Ningpo Road. As neither of them knew how to use the hand grenade, the accused just left the missile near the entrance of the station and fled.

For their failure to execute the work, the accused and his accomplice received a sound beating from Zang Nyoh-tsing. Later, he was made a watchman stationed on the second floor of the New Asia building. He said he also investigated the location of the Continental radio station.

Another Bombing

Tseu Nyoh-vung, the third accused, also admitted to have been asked by Zang Nyoh-tsing to bomb the Overseas radio station on June 12. He said he first investigated the place and the avenue of escape. The accused together with one Kompo San-tse and Wong Ming-kwei were transported from New Asia Hotel in Hongkew in an SDF car with a Japanese in plainclothes who later handed them a hand grenade on arrival at 86 Jessfield Road. Wong Ming-kwei, still at large, was the man who threw the bomb, the accused told the Court. He said he escaped when the missile exploded. All the trio returned to 86 Jessfield Road, where they telephoned the New Asia Hotel for a car which carried them back to Hongkew. A Japanese in plainclothes rode in the same vehicle.

The fourth accused also admitted his participation in the bombing of the China Travel Service in Szechuen Road. The bomb fell short of the objective and exploded in the middle of the street. He said he received his instructions from Zang Nyoh-tsing through one Zau Soong-dau.

The fifth accused admitted having kept a watch at a foreign radio station at 274 Route Prosper Paris in the French Concession for the purpose of a bombing attack. The place was found to be foreign-owned and therefore was not bombed.

Chinese Release British Ship

Minnie Moller in Port; Taikoo, Kowsing Due

The Moller Company's tug Minnie Moller was released on Tuesday morning by the Chinese Chekiang province authorities after being detained by them for over three weeks off Tinghai. The vessel was chartered to a Chinese company which used her to transport passengers to the vicinity of Tinghai, which is forbidden by the Chekiang provincial authorities.

On the initial trip, the passengers disembarked outside that port and arrived there by land, but when the ship arrived there on August 5 with more travellers she was boarded by Chinese authorities who demanded to see the compradore who was responsible for transport of passengers. When they learnt that he was not on board but in Shanghai they demanded that he be brought there before the ship was released. As this request could not be complied with, the tug was detained until the Hankow Government ordered the release and she finally sailed for Shanghai on Tuesday morning.

The same company's newly acquired tugs, the Taikoo,— formerly belonging to the Butterfield & Swire Taikoo Shipyards in Hongkong, and the Kowsing,— purchased from the Hongkong Government, are shortly sailing from the Colony for Shanghai together with the company's two steel lighters which were purchased in Karachi and towed to the Colony by Pauline Moller over a month ago. The Kowsing was launched at the Taikoo Dockyards in 1926. She was forced ashore and damaged by a typhoon last September, and underwent repairs before leaving for Shanghai.

COMMODITY prices in Hankow have registered further sharp rises, says the "Sin Wan Pao." The price indices in the mid-China city are now about twice as high as they were at the end of June.

"No Visitors" Without A Customs Pass

Former Regulation to Be Enforced at Wharves

Those who have been in the habit of going down to the wharf to meet an incoming liner and thus getting on board to see friends without delay are warned that the Customs authorities are now to enforce the former regulations regarding visitors boarding ships, the "North-China Daily News" was informed yesterday.

Since the hostilities, and until quite recently, visitors often proceeded straight down to such wharves as the Shanghai & Hongkew Wharf Co.'s Hongkew Wharf, Hunt's Wharf and so on, and were able to go straight on board before passengers had been disembarked and baggage despatched.

The Customs are now enforcing the regulation which states that all passengers and baggage must be cleared from the ship before visitors can be permitted to go on board. Of course, those holding Customs passes are exempt from this regulation, but unless there is an absolutely vital reason for such extreme haste —and mere desire to meet friends or relatives is not an extremely vital reason, Customs authorities declare, although it may be a laudable one—no passes will be issued.

Relatives and friends will therefore find it more convenient to meet passengers as they come ashore at the Customs Jetty.

Demonstrators Crowd Mint Site in Chapei

Chinese Carrying Scrolls Visit "Ta Tao" H.Q.

A demonstration by some 300 Chinese carrying flags and inscribed banners was held between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the former Chinese Government Mint in Chapei, across from Ichang Road and the American defence sector. The crowd arrived at the Mint, which is being used as a headquarters of the "Ta Tao" administration, at about 1.30 p.m., waving three kinds of flags—"Ta Tao," Japanese and the resurrected five-barred standard of the old Chinese Republic. Numerous scrolls covered with Chinese characters also were displayed.

The demonstration came off quietly, although the crowd at one time appeared to be on the verge of crossing the Ichang Road Bridge to the Settlement side. A large number of Japanese soldiers were present immediately about the Mint building.

The demonstrators dispersed within half an hour of their arrival. The occasion for the manifestation had not been learned at a late hour yesterday.

Refugee Aid Societies

A total sum of $75,806.01 was collected by the Refugee Children Nutritional Aid Committee during the period October 30 to July 25, the committee reveals. Including bank interest and Sundry sales and insurance rebates, $112.62 and $393.71 respectively, the grand total was $76,312.34. The monthly expenditure for the months of November to July, inclusive, was $69,079.35, leaving a balance on hand of $7,232.99.

Among the large donations helping to make up this fund were one of $15,000 and five of $10,000 from the China Child Welfare Inc., N.Y., while regular monthly grants of $1,000 were received during the early months from the Shanghai International Relief Committee.

In its report for the period March-April inclusive, the "Good-Will Industries," another benevolent agency (operating in Nantáo) reports that refugees aided were 19,951 persons. In addition, 4,851 received "free distribution" in Nantao. Those sharing in the charity work included 350 Chinese friends, 300 foreign friends, 10 friends abroad, 15 churches, 14 schools, 10 hospitals and 42 other organizations.

Contributions for work-room wages during the six months totalled $5,283.60, while from "Good-Will store room" sales a further sum of $873.33 had been received. The health of the workers and their neighbourhoods has been in the care of a clinic in the charge of Dr. Grace Crandall since May 1.

Yangtze Blockade Resented

Washington Journal Says Japanese Plan to Check All Foreign Ships

Washington, Aug. 30.

The "Washington Evening Star" said here today that the Japanese Navy's blockade of the Yangtze River in China was wrecking relations between Japan and the United States and was leading to suspicion in Government circles here that the Japanese were attempting to prevent foreign navigation of the river permanently.

The paper said the Japanese Navy's refusal to permit the U.S.S. Monocacy to sail down river from her present position near Kiukiang presented the "makings" of another Panay incident.

"The Japanese are building up another good case against themselves if the Monocacy comes to grief," the paper said. "Their excuse will be that a Chinese mine did the damage. But the stubborn Japanese refusal to permit the Monocacy to sail for Shanghai at the present stage of hostilities smacks strongly of retaliation. There is more than suspicion in Government circles here that the Japanese high command, having failed to persuade the Powers to withdraw their ships from the river, is now trying to prevent all foreign navigation of the Yangtze."

The paper did not refer directly to the incident on Saturday in which two mines exploded within eightly yards of the Monocacy ninety minutes after several Japanese minesweepers had been active near by. The incident led to a protest to the Japanese Consulate at Kiukiang by Lieut. Clarence Conlan, Commander of the Monocacy. The protest led to speculation in some quarters here whether Lieut. Conlan's protest was based on suspicion of a deliberate attempt to damage the Monocacy. Government circles, however, appeared to attribute the accident to carelessness of the Japanese minesweepers.

Obstinacy Criticized

Referring to the Japanese Navy's refusal to permit free navigation of the Yangtze, an international river, the paper said: "Such obstinacy does little to restore good feeling between the United States and Japan, which in any event will take considerable time to effect."

Meanwhile authoritative sources here pointed out that the Japanese Navy had no legal right under international law to blockade the Yangtze. They said Japan has not declared war and that the rights of the Japanese Navy on the Yangtze therefore do not exceed those of any other third Power in China, including the United States. They said this referred particularly to the case of United States warships who have the right to navigate on the Yangtze without consultation with Japanese officials or permission from the Japanese Navy.

Informed circles here indicated that thus far any American consultations with the Japanese Navy commanders had been merely a gesture of goodwill to prevent a recurrance of the Panay incident. It was believed the patience of American officials on the Yangtze question would soon be exhausted unless the Japanese themselves lifted their illegal blockade.—United Press.

Counterfeit Chewing Gum Seized

Three Chinese Remanded by District Court

A salesman, a shop-master and a box-maker were remanded by the First Special District Court yesterday until next week on charges of selling and manufacturing counterfeit chewing gum which may be injurious to public health.

The trio, Mau Kyung-ling, aged 33, Zung Yoong-kwei, 30, and Lieu Hai-hua, 28, were alleged to have participated in a scheme in which a cheap kind of chewing gum was wrapped up with "Wrigleys" paper and packed in boxes bearing the same label.

The first accused was arrested after an investigation made by Detective Sergeant J. Bradley at two shops in Nanking Road. Employees at these shops gave the information that the chewing gum was bought from Mau Kyung-ling, a salesman. The employees pledged ignorance of the fact that the chewing gum they had bought was counterfeit.

Information from the first accused led to the arrest of the shop-master at 287 Yunnan Road, where, according to the prosecution, boxes of counterfeit chewing gum were being sold. Later the box-maker was arrested.

Japanese Attacks Traffic Constable

Hongkew Dentist Seized After Causing Trouble At Garden Bridge

A Japanese civilian who gave his name as T. Isono and said he was a dentist in Hongkew created a disturbance at the south end of the Garden Bridge yesterday morning when he tried to prevent a traffic policeman from carrying out his duties.

The incident occurred at about 10.40 o'clock and was witnessed by several foreigners. At that time a Chinese constable who had been placed near the bridge to deal with "wild" rickshaws saw a puller violate the Municipal regulations by dashing up the approach to the bridge despite the constable's efforts to restrain him. The elusive puller in fact managed to pick up a Japanese passenger and then tried to return with his fare past the policeman.

The constable, however, proceeded to carry out his instructions and halted the rickshaw, at the same time demanding the puller's arm-badge. At this point the Japanese passenger, Isono, protested and as the policeman endeavoured to take the badge from the puller's arm the Japanese descended from the rickshaw and, in the presence of scores of witnesses, struck the constable in the chest.

Not satisfied with hitting the policeman, the Japanese, according to reports made to Central Police Station, further grasped his belt and pistol "lanyard" and started to pull the C.P.C. up the bridge towards the Hongkew side.

At this juncture the foreign police sergeant on duty at Soochow Road and the bridge arrived on the scene and attempted to pacify the Japanese. The latter, however, would not be pacified and even struck at the much bigger foreigner. The blows made no impression on the massively-built sergeant.

A lieutenant in the Seaforth Highlanders appeared on the scene at this moment and asked if he could give assistance to the police. The foreign sergeant asked the lieutenant if he could provide someone to look after the Japanese while he, the sergeant, telephoned to Central Station. The lieutenant quickly summoned a corporal from the guard stationed at the British Consulate-General.

Some five minutes later the Japanese trouble-maker and the two policemen were on their way to the station, from where a call was sent to the Japanese Consular Police. The Japanese was handed over to Consular constables. It was said that action will be taken against him in the Japanese Consular Court.

The Chinese constable had to be sent to the Police Hospital for treatment of bruises on his chest and abrasions on his left hand.

Two armed Chinese stole a quantity of money and jewellery at a Chinese house, 254 Singapore Road, at 4.30 o'clock yesterday morning, while it was yet dark. They pointed two pistols at the occupants of the house, but escaped without firing any shots. The value of the loot was set at $110.

HER HANDS WERE ALL OUT OF SHAPE

In Grip of Rheumatism for 15 Years

No matter how long you have suffered with rheumatism, there is always hope for you if you persevere with Kruschen, as the following letter proves:—

"For about 2 years I hardly went out, it was such a painful effort to walk owing to rheumatism. My hands and feet were the worst affected. I was unable to walk without a stick. I tried everything I saw advertised, but I got no better. I said I would not bother again, but I read so much about Kruschen, I decided to try it. It was three months before I felt any better, but I kept on and since then I have been fine and never used the stick. My hands were all out of shape, but they are almost normal now. Of course I could not expect to get better all at once, as I had suffered for 15 years before I started on Kruschen."—(Miss) A.L.

Rheumatism cannot resist the action of Kruschen Salts, which dissolve the painful crystals of uric acid—the cause of those aches and pains—and assist the kidneys to eliminate this poison through the natural channels.

THIS scheme for marking young grouse is to be started in Scotland this season. Discussion has been proceeding for a year or two on the problem of migration and steps have now been taken by a Committee—including Colonel Lord George Scott, Lord Elphinstone, Sir John Stirling Maxwell, Professor Ritchie and Mr. Mortimer Batten the well-known naturalist, for the issue of rings to be placed on the legs of young grouse, by which means it is hoped to ascertain definite data respecting the migratory and other habits of the birds.

AFTER the suicide of a young wife at Barnet, who suffered from "suburban neurosis" the vicar of St. Paul's, Harringay, the Rev. L. G. Appleton, and his wife have decided to form a Young Wives' Fellowship. The idea is to arrange various meetings and entertainments to which young married women in the district will be invited, and to which they can bring their babies, and where they can make friends with each other. Lonely young wives in suburban districts often have a hard time finding friends, and once their housework and shopping is over they have little or nothing to do.

A CURIOUS condition was laid down in the will of Mrs. Clara Kay Holdgate, of Westmoreland Road, Barnes, London, S.W., who died last April, and whose will has just been published. She left £23,000. The residue is left to her husband, Charles Frederick Holdgate, on condition that he does not marry a woman more than 15 years his junior. A friend told a reporter that Mr. Holdgate was a wonderful husband and that the couple had been entirely happy together. The husband was heart-broken at his wife's death. Mrs. Holdgate was older than her husband, and apparently she wished to protect him from making an unsuitable marriage at any time. Mr. Holdgate is a retired copper-plate printer, living alone in a large modern house at Barnes. If he should break the condition of the will, the residue passes to the West London Hospital.

Japan Will Continue Fighting Until Gen. Chiang Submits

War Minister Reiterates Determination to Follow Chinese Armies Wherever They Go After Hankow

Tokyo, Aug. 31.

JAPAN is fully prepared to take counter-measures in case Gen. Chiang Kai-shek transfers his headquarters to Kwangtung or Kwangsi provinces, Lieut-Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, War Minister, told newspaper men at Morioka, capital of Iwate, Prefecture, yesterday.

The War Minister gave a detailed interview on many topics connected with the China hostilities after he had visited his ancestral graves.

He reiterated Japan's policy of refusing to deal with the Gen. Chiang Kai-shek regime, as announced on January 16; declared that economic co-operation among Japan, Manchoukuo and China is an important objective of the military operations; and emphasized the vital necessity of reconstructing Japan's economic fabric on the basis of controlled economy by giving preponderance to heavy industries.

The fall of Hankow now "is only a matter of time," he said; it was difficult to predict, he added, what move the Gen. Chiang Kai-shek administration would make following the capture of Hankow.

"Japan's policy, however, has been fixed since January 16 when the government issued its statement declaring it would cease to deal with the Gen. Chiang Kai-shek administration," Lieut.-Gen. Itagaki declared.

Chiang Must Yield

"Therefore, Japan is keeping up the punitive expedition against Gen. Chiang Kai-shek until and unless he yields. A different situation would arise, however, if the Chiang Kai-shek administration would accept Japan's demands and rally under the banner of the new governments organized in North and Central China.

"Even in such a case Japan would persist in her attitude of refusing to deal with a government headed by Chiang Kai-shek. Much speculation is heard regarding sites of the future headquarters of Chiang Kai-shek. He will experience difficulty in feeding and maintaining his large army if he transfers his headquarters to Yunnan or Szechuen, to say nothing of the lack of transportation and communication facilities.

"Therefore, some believe that Chiang Kai-shek possibly will move his headquarters to Kwangtung or Kwangsi provinces. The Japanese Government has fully considered counter-measures for dealing with such an eventuality.

Joint Commission Planned

"There will be a proper procedure for organizing a central government in China by amalgamating the present regimes; for instance, by organizing a joint commission which will represent the various new administrations.

"I hope the Japanese nation will grasp the true aspect of the China incident. Three countries, Japan, China and Manchoukuo, ought to have co-operated in securing their mutual existence and prosperity, but Chiang Kai-shek's anti-Japanese policy precipitated the present incident.

"East Asia will be stabilized by an economic bloc between Japan, Manchoukuo and China; therefore, the China incident forms only a process for building up such an economic bloc, which must be the national objective of the conflict with China.

"Japan's economic organization ought to be reconstructed on the basis of controlled economy by making the heavy industry Japan's key industry. I am optimistic over the future of Japan's heavy industry which is now maintained on the controlled economy policy. This important branch of industry even after the end of hostilities can be easily maintained by national defence policies and by increasing demand from China where peace and order certainly will return before long.

"A contest in national resources is now going on between Japan and the Chiang Kai-shek regime but a new epoch will dawn with the establishment of an economic bloc between Japan, China and Manchoukuo following the termination of the present conflict.

"Japan is prepared to fight on against the Chiang Kai-shek administration after its removal into the interior of China, no matter where it chooses to go.

"The Ministry of War budget will be increased in the next fiscal year and will be increased for some years to come for the reason that an expansion of the air force must be realized. Complete national defence policies will be necessitated by the new conditions in the Far East as a natural outcome of Japan's new Asia policy."—Domei.

Hines Denounced By "Friend"

Former Tammany Leader Gives Evidence Against Old Associate

New York, Aug. 30.

Further incriminating evidence pointing to definite efforts to protect the US$100,000,000 New York lottery racket of "Dutch" Schultz was presented against James J. Hines, former Tammany Hall chief, today.

The evidence, based on the testimony of Mr. John F. Curry, former Tammany Hall leader, upset earlier attempts of the counsel for the defence, Mr. Lloyd P. Stryker, to prove that Hines was wrongly accused, having been mistaken for someone else.

Mr. Curry, a friend of Hines, told the court that Hines had aided him to become a Tammany Hall leader.

In aiding him to attain the post, Hines had later sought his aid in electing William Dodge, former District Attorney, Mr. Curry said.

Police Assignment Shifted

Mr. Curry said that Hines, through Mr. Curry's office, had arranged the transfer between 25 to 50 police assignments every year.

Earlier, several policemen had testified that they had been transferred after Schultz had threatened to arrange for their shift because of raids on his lottery stations.

In his attempt to present a picture of mistaken identity, Mr. Stryker claimed that Hines had been mistaken for Larry Carney, deadly official "trigger man" for the Schultz interests.

Hines faces 29 years imprisonment if convicted of charges of bribery and embezzlement for which he is being tried.

He is alleged to have arranged with police and court officials in New York for the protection of Schultz gangsters connected with the lottery racket. Hines was alleged by several witnesses last week to have received US$500 weekly for his alleged part in protecting Schultz and his gang from police prosecution.—United Press.

British Chamber and Mr. Singloh Hsu

Message of Condolence Sent To His Widow

The joint committee of the British Chamber of Commerce and China Association have added their voice to the volume of condolences expressed to Mrs. Singloh Hsu on the death of her husband, Mr. Singloh Hsu, who was killed in the Japanese attack on the C.N.A.C. plane.

At a recent meeting of the committee the following resolution was passed:

Breaking Bottles In Transit

Thirsty Coolies Devise Neat Scheme for Free Drinks on Hot Days

"Broken in transit" is an all-embracing phrase that can cover quite a fair-sized multitude of sins, as two hand-cart coolies near the Bund appear to have found out for themselves. The hand-carts used are of the small-wheeled type, and the two coolies frequently find themselves commissioned to transport large, open crates of soft drinks.

But these are hot days and the dragging of heavy freight about sweltering streets would make even a camel thirsty. These coolies may never have heard of Karl Marx or of Communist Russia—but they do know that when a man is thirsty, he wants a drink, and with all the makings before them—behind them, possibly, in this case—what could be simpler than to drag out a couple of bottles of, say, lemonade, flip off the caps on the side of the crate and thus embark on a long, cooling drink?

The awkward difficulty confronted by two empty bottles, bound to be noticed when the crate arrives at its destination, worries these coolies not at all, as a "North-China Daily News" reporter who watched them yesterday found out.

The last drop having been sucked out and the bottles wrung dry, so to speak, the coolies re-affix the bottle caps. The bottles are then cracked smartly on the side of the crate or curb and popped back, in mangled form, into the box. The coolies then tow the cart away, arriving at their destination with all goods save and sound save for two bottles, unfortunately "broken in transit."

Fireman Sentenced For Larceny

Money Stolen from House Damaged in Fire

Fireman No. 463, Ma Ven-hsiang, was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment by the First Special District Court yesterday on charges of larceny.

The accused together with others attended a fire at a paper shop in Honan Road late on Tuesday night. Following their return to Central Station, a complaint was received by the senior officer to the effect that a wallet had been missing from a table in the damaged house and that the table had been hacked by an axe.

Sub-Officer V. D. Wong gathered together the firemen who had attended the outbreak. They were searched and in the pocket of the accused was found a total of $40.90. He pleaded guilty.

Two warders are on trial here, charged with homicide in connection with the deaths of four prisoners who were on a hunger strike in the gaol here.

The warders have been ordered to be held without bail.

The prisoners are said to have been found naked in the cells in conditions which were compared by the assistant District Attorney with the "Black Hole" of Calcutta.

Their bodies were described as being "black and blue." The Coroner declared that death was due to scalding, and there were signs of suffocation.—Reuter.

Army Cup Polo Matches

Terrific Battle Sees Ewo Narrowly Defeat Mixed Grill; Durhams Overcome Braves

By "The Chaser"

TWO Army Cup Tournament polo matches were played last night. In the first, the Durhams, who received two goals handicap, beat the Braves by six goals to five. The second match was the main feature of the afternoon and resulted in a terrific battle in which Ewo just managed to subdue Mixed Grill, after a close and thrilling match, defeating them by eight goals to seven. The winning goal in both matches were scored in extra time. Those who turned out to watch the match were well rewarded with a really good game which never lacked interest for a moment.

Ewo (Riggio, John Keswick, W. J. Keswick and Pollock) conceded four goals and went full out from the start and had the better of things. They were stronger in their defence and could attack more freely with confidence while Mixed Grill (Lutey, Hornby, Krikoriantz and Elles), with due respect to Elles who played a good game, had to rush Krikoriantz up and down the field.

The Ewo team, played with good combination and broke through the Mixed Grill defence often. John Keswick was particularly good and was doing marvelous work with his stick and scored five times. W. J. Keswick scored once and Riggio twice. For the losers Krikoriantz was terrific and it is doubtful whether anyone else could have equalled his hard riding and hard hitting. Apart from his fouls, he was often brilliant and drew applause. Lutey played well at one but appeared to be slightly off and could not hit the ball squarely.

Ewo Attack

Ewo pressed first but the ball was hit behind. They continued to press but could not score. W. J. Keswick fouled and the forty yard free hit, taken by Krikoriantz, went behind. Ewo pressed from the hit out and John Keswick scored. He scored again a minute later when he took a forty yard free hit given against Krikoriantz. Hornby played well to bring the ball up from the throw in and score on his own and from a difficult angle too. Ewo pressed immediately from the throw in and W. J. Keswick tallied.

Ewo fouled after a minute of play in the second chukker, but Krikoriantz, who took the free hit from the sixty yard mark, hit wide. Both sides had several cracks at the goal but neither side were able to score during the chukker.

Play resumed keenly after half time and Ewo were again the first to press and score through Riggio. Ewo fouled a moment later and the forty yard free hit taken by Krikoriantz went astray. Ewo pressed and W. J. Keswick hit wide with a long shot. Towards the end of the chukker Mixed Grill charged down the field and Krikoriantz scored.

The score was four to six against Ewo, in the beginning of the fourth chukker, but was tied twice during the chukker. Ewo scored quickly in the first few minutes, through John Keswick, who scored again a minute later from a forty yard free hit to tie the score at six all. Riggio scored when Ewo pressed hard from the throw in. Krikoriantz scored well after some really brilliant play which drew applause and tied the score at seven all. Ewo fouled but Krikoriantz's free hit went wide.

Extra time was played after a five-minute interval. Play was very even and Ewo missed a real sitter when W. J. Keswick missed an easy one just off the goalmouth. After five minutes of play Ewo pressed and John Keswick scored with a high shot which gave Mixed Grill no chance.

The first match was nowhere comparable to the second one. Neither side were up to their usual standard and the game was inclined to be "sticky" with a good number of rather spectacular misses. The Durhams were conceded two goals which the Braves found a bit too much for them to give. There was no scoring in the first chukker. Luard and Fanning Evans scored for the Durhams in the second chukker while E. B. Moller, Heyn and Lacks tallied for the Braves. E. B. Moller and Lacks were the only scorers in the third chukker while Fanning Evans was the lone scorer in the fourth. Luard scored the winning goal after two minutes of extra time, when he took a forty-yard free hit. The teams were Durhams—Luard Arderne, Fanning Evans and Humphreys and Braves—E. B. Moller, C. B. Moller, Lacks and Heyn.

Rinks Semi-Finals Completed

Disappointing Day for S'hai Lawn Bowls Club; Recs Win Handsomely

The Shanghai Lawn Bowls Club had a disappointing day yesterday when the two teams which they had in the semi-finals of the Rinks Championships came to grief leaving this institution with only one of the Championship Trophies for the season in its possession, the Singles, won by H. Wallace on Tuesday.

At the Country Club T. S. Parry (skip), W. J. Ward, F. Hornbrook and E. Jacobs were defeated in a very close game by I. A. Beith (skip), F. G. Harrison, L. J. Davies and M. Hendry with the very narrow margin of 21 shots to 19, a score which indicates the tenseness of the game, especially at the closing ends.

The play opened very much in favour of the Lawn Bowls Club side as they ran away with the first five ends scoring three singles, a 2 and a 3. With an 8-nil lead against them, Beith and his men retaliated by taking the next five, one of which, the 9th, produced a five and left the score at the close of the 10th 11-8 in favour of the Country Club team.

The 5 which Beith had scored was liquidated in the 11th when Parry added the same figure to his total, the board then showing 13-11 in his favour. A dong-dong game then ensued, each side alternatively taking singles until the 16th which concluded with Parry at 16 and Beith at 13. At this stage, Parry put forward a particularly brilliant piece of work. His opponents were lying 5 when he came up and rested the Country Club wood through taking the shot.

Tide Turns

A different complexion was put upon the state of affairs in the end which followed, Beith gathering another 5 which put him in the lead which position he strengthened with a single and a 2 which brought him up to 21 shots against his opponents' 16 at the 19th. Parry followed with a single which left him four shots behind and one end to go, not a very hopeful position, but with a sporting chance.

At this exciting stage of the game, the 21st end, the Lawn Bowls team were lying 3 after the No. 2's had played but Harrison rested the 3rd wood which left Parry with 2, a position which neither of the skips changed.

Both skips played a sound game whilst Harrison and Ward were steady no 3's. The leads, Hendry and Jacobs were well matched but Davies had the edge on Hornbrook at No. 2.

Recs Win Easily

At Wayside Park, where T. J. Goodman (skip), J. Munro, E. R. Harmer and H. Wallace succumbed to the Recs combination T. G. Main (skip), G. V. Jensen, R. E. Manley and R. J. S. Brandt, a much more uneven game was played, Main coming out the victor with 26 shots to 13.

Manley, who played brilliantly throughout, was outstanding and Brandt was an excellent lead; in fact these two players left their skip with little to do. Of the other side, neither Wallace or Harmer were playing up to their usual standard.

The Recs took the lead from the beginning, a position which they retained throughout. During the proceedings Goodman added to his total twice with 3's and Main collected a 5 between the 10th and 15th end. One of the highlights of the game was furnished by Main who, at the 7th end, when Goodman had carried the jack to lie the shot, came up and drew two beautiful woods.

The Lawn Bowls Club recovered towards the close with a couple of singles and a 2 between the 18th and 20th end but even this left them in a hopeless position.

Pirates Trounce Giants Again

Three Clubs Well Bunched Behind National League Baseball Leaders

New York, Aug. 30.

With the Chicago Cubs and the New York Giants losing in the National League today, the Cincinnati Reds, all flushed over a double victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers, threatened to join the battle for the second place honours. Only half-a-game separates the Giants, Cubs and the Reds.

The National League leading Pittsburgh Pirates snapped out of the inconsistent displays by trouncing the Giants, 7-1.

The Buccaneers smacked the ball heavily in the very first innings for three runs and this lead helped them forge to an easy win. Gus Suhr clouted out two singles and a double in three trips to the plate.

A second-inning rally which brought in two runs gave the Boston Bees the lead over the Chicago Cubs and also the victory, 8-1.

Reds Beat Dodgers

Coming through with a single marker in a last minute spurt in the ninth inning, the Reds downed the Dodgers, 5-4, in the curtain-raiser of their double-header. They took the second encounter, 7-4, after hanging up three runs in the seventh inning. Ernie Koy and Frank McCormick scored home runs in the opener.

The Philadelphia Phillies trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in the first game of their twin bill when they scored the winning run in the eighth inning. Johnny Mize and Ted Brack banged out four-baggers.

But the Cards came back in the second tilt to win, 8-7, in the tenth inning. The Phils tied them in the eighth inning, but the Cards came through in the extra frame.

The American League leading New York Yankees continued in their all-conquering burst and today took the Detroit Tigers into camp, 3-1. The Yanks scored all their runs in the first inning.

Frank Crosetti banged out a four-ply hit with none of the bases filled while Bill Dickey singled to drive in two men.

Breaking loose in the eighth inning for two runs and another marker in the ninth inning, the Cleveland Indians crushed the Philadelphia Athletics, 10-8.

Jeff Heath cracked his bat against the ball for two home runs and chased in four men, while Chapman and Bruce Campbell each connected for a home run.

Four runs in the fifth inning brought victory to the St. Louis Browns over the Boston Red Sox, 9-5. Joe Cronin, veteran manager of the Boston squad, again homered.

U.S.S. Asheville Scuttled By Second Battalion

Winners Still Have Chance of Snatching Local Baseball Title from Present Leaders

RALLYING in the eighth inning with a splurge of four hits and five runs, the Second Battalion erased a 2-1 deficit and won from the U.S.S. Asheville in the Shanghai Baseball League at the Race Course yesterday by a score of 6-2. The victory gave the 1937 champions, the second Battalion a slim chance of retaining the title, for they are still in the race and only two games behind the leading First Battalion.

The Navy team had every reason to feel sorry for losing yesterday's contest. They yielded a one-run lead in the first inning but came back with two points in the seventh. However, the sailors could not hold the advantage any longer than one round and the whole team blew up. Harvey, who twirled an impressive game until the fatal eighth in which he was tagged for four bingles, did very well. He lost the encounter through two costly errors.

Third Baseman Sloan, who played his first game yesterday, made a wild throw to first on Winchester's grounder. Then Second Baseman Kenny permitted Potts' bouncing shot to go by and score the lead-off man, Winchester, for the tying run. That was how the Marines opened their final drive.

Beeson, who singled his way to first base before Potts, was driven in together with the latter by Hawkins. These runs put the Second Battalion two up.

Local Interport Team Altered By Illness

Both Squires and du Pac Out of Series

Lewis D. Carson, Shanghai's foremost tennis player, is robbed of making a grand slam in the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Association championships as his partner, C. C. Squires, in the men's doubles, suddenly had an attack of appendicitis yesterday and was moved into hospital. This caused them to forfeit their match to R. Bossuet and R. Jourdan.

The illness of Squires forced the Shanghai Interport team to undergo a drastic change.

J. H. du Pac de Marsoulies is down with a mild attack of malaria. T. C. Chang and Humberto Collaco, therefore, have been invited to fill the vacancies in the second and third singles, respectively.

W. A. H. Duff has postponed his sailing for Hongkong and will definitely team up with Carson. The final line-ups for Shanghai are:—

Fire Singles:—L. D. Carson.
Second Singles:—T. C. Chang.
Third Singles:—H. Collaco.
First Doubles:—L. D. Carson and W. A. H. Duff.
Second Doubles:—Poker Tong and H. K. F. Li.

Championship Matches

Competition in the men's doubles has reached the semi-final stage, as a result of a postponed match which took place on the court of the Association Sportive Francaise yesterday between H. Collaco and S. Collaco and the team of David Tsai and Z. L. Sia. The Portuguese pair, after four hard fought sets, emerged victorious by a score of 7-5, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

The victors played a far steadier game than their opponents and, although they were kept on the defensive most of the way, managed to outstcore the Chinese in the pinches.

Play was close all along. The Portuguese jumped into a two-game lead in the initial set but were tied by the Chinese. The latter pair then went out in front by 4-3 but could not hold on and gradually slackened to lose the set by 7-5. H. Collaco was easily the better of the two. He proved a clever pilot and often forced Tsai and Sia into mistakes.

The second set failed to go beyond ten games. Both sides played well, with the Chinese sticking to aggressive tactics. Faulty moves in storming the net at random caused their downfall to the tune of 6-4.

In the third session the leaders purposely took a rest and did not play as seriously as before. The change gave Tsai and Sia the chance to take a new lease on life and capture the set by 6-3. But in the fourth frame the Portuguese exponents again predominated.

The Collacoes will now meet Bossuet and Jourdan to qualify for the final. In the other bracket there is another pair of Portuguese players, B. V. de Senna and A. S. Costa, who will be opposed by Poker Tong and H. K. F. Li.

Yorks Win County Championship

Middlesex Defeated by Surrey on 1st Innings; Fine Achievement

London, Aug. 31.

With Middlesex losing to Surrey on the first innings, Yorkshire have definitely retained the County Championship, winning the title for the 20th time.

Yorkshire's achievement this year is remarkable in view of the heavy calls made on the County for Test players during the season.

The match at Hove between the Australians and Sussex ended in a draw. It was featured by a lightning century—the fastest of the season—by H. T. Bartlett, who captained the Light Blues two seasons ago.

Details:

At Hove—the Australians drew with Sussex. Australians 336 and 300 (Badcock 58, Barnett 53, Hassett 56, Hammond five for 107). Sussex 453 (Hartlett 157, Cox 76, Stainton 58, Jas, Langridge 68, Ward six for 184) and 53 for two.

At Blackpool—Lancashire beat Warwick on the first innings. Lancashire 338 for seven declared (Hopwood 120) and 152 for seven declared. Warwick 321 (Wilkinson five for 79) and 81 for two.—Reuter.

Local Backstroke Mark in Danger

Mrs. Johnston Approaches Shanghai Record in Heats For Foreign "Y" Gala

Although announced that it was believed Mrs. A. S. Johnston broke the ladies 50 yards backstroke championship record, when she swam the distance in 38⅘ seconds yesterday, subsequent checking up of the record revealed that the old record is held by the former Miss Vivienne Schmid who recorded 38 seconds flat in her record winning year. Mrs. Johnston won her heat in the 50 yards ladies backstroke eliminations yesterday when she swam in ahead of Miss Ling Mei Ling and Miss Joan Picozzi.

In the second heat of the ladies backstroke event, Miss M. Clifton just defeated Miss J. Peach in 40⅘ seconds, while Miss V. Dodd was third. The winner was only just given the decision by a narrow margin, and as Miss Dodd recorded better time than Miss Picozzi as the fastest third, she will take part in the final on Saturday.

In the other eliminations, some good swimming was seen by the junior boys. In the first heat. R. Hekking won from G. Figueredo in 64 seconds the first and second being very evenly matched and the decision was given after a conference of the judges. A. Pure won the second heat with comparative ease from J. Lumsdaine, while R. Wyatt was third.

The following will swim in the finals of these two events on Saturday night:

Ladies 50 yards backstroke:—Misses: M. Clifton, J. Peach, V. Dodd, Ling Mei Ling and Mrs. A. S. Johnston.

Junior Boys 100 yards free style:—R. Hekking, G. Figueredo, A. Pure, J. Lumsdaine, and R. Wyatt.

Impressive Showing

Of yesterday's swimming, Mrs. Johnston gave easily the most impressive showing. She took a good lead from the start and was well ahead of the others in having about two yards advantage at the end of the first length. Her turn was magnificent and she gained at least a yard on this, going on with a strong finish to win handsomely by about five yards. It is expected she will either equal or break the local record in the final.

In the other heat, some close swimming was seen with Miss Peach showing up well in the first length, and Miss Clifton coming up strongly in the second. The latter showed a stronger finish and was able to displace her opponent by a narrow margin, while Miss Dodd had a bad turn and was slightly behind her opponents.

In the junior boys 100 yards, Hekking and Figueredo had a thrilling struggle all the way up the course the former revealing better stamina and being able to complete the distance in better style, thereby getting the decision by a touch. The other heat saw Lumsdaine setting the pace for the first two length, and being well in the running until the last half of the final lap when Pure went out ahead to win handsomely.

Washington Closely Watching European Developments

Ambassadors Report Reactions; Definite Action In Appeal to Berlin and Prague May Be Taken

Washington Aug. 31.

PRESIDENT Roosevelt yesterday conferred with Mr. Cordell Hull, U.S. Secretary of State, who visited the White House after reading dispatches from Europe. It is expected that Mr. Joseph Kennedy, U.S. Ambassador in London, will report today regarding his interview with Mr. Neville Chamberlain, British Prime Minister. The United States ambassadors in Berlin and Prague are also reported to be watching the situation closely.

Nobody here attempts to minimize the extreme gravity of the situation. There is some speculation whether the U.S. Government will undertake more specific action in an effort to maintain peace. Such action, official circles point out, might take the form of a direct appeal to Berlin and Prague by President Roosevelt or Mr. Cordell Hull.

Although official circles naturally decline to confirm this report, it is widely felt here that President Roosevelt would not permit Europe to drift into war without raising his voice, and at least putting on record the abhorrence the American people will feel for any leader or leaders who deliberately break peace.

At a press conference yesterday, the President declined to make any statement on the European situation, stating that it was "best not to make any comment at present."—Reuter.

British Press Views Towards Berlin

"The Times" Emphasizes Conciliatory Spirit

London, Aug. 31.

The press here this morning declared that the British Government would make clear to Germany that Britain would be inevitably involved in any conflict which would arise from the Czech problem, but also stressed that the possibility of a peaceful solution to the Czech question should not be entirely discarded.

"The Times" emphasized that it would be difficult to localize any eventual conflict, which would, in the the end, probably involve Great Britain.

The paper added that Britain has in no way prejudiced mediation in the present negotiations in Prague.

"What is before Berlin today is not an accusation but a reminder and a request," the journal concluded. "Germany alone cannot make that high contribution towards stability and progress in Europe, but it cannot be made without her."—Havas.

Czech Press to Curb Own Freedom

Limitations Imposed for Interests of State

Prague, Aug. 30.

"Thirty thousand Sudeten German labourers are at present taking part in the Reich's fortification works," the "Poledni List" reports today.

"Their average salary amounts to 50 marks per week, and of this sum only half is paid in Czech crowns. This means that German banks must obtain about ten million crowns weekly. The workers are paid with new banknotes, and the Czech authorities should closely examine this money!" the news organ closes.

Placing the welfare of the State above the full freedom of the Press, the Czech Journalists' Trade Union has addressed an appeal to all newspapermen in Czechoslovakia, proclaiming that the "interests of the State demand that the press adopts a moderate and reserved attitude towards international events and that it publishes no articles which may offend the honour of foreign States."

This appeal followed the protest lodged here by the Reich's Minister, Dr. Ernst Eisenlohr, against the publication of articles "injurious to the name of the former German Army."—Havas.

Several Czech-Sudeten Scuffles Reported

Cabaret Brawls Typify Nature of "Incidents"

Prague, Aug. 30.

Incidents involving Czechs and Sudeten Germans are still reported, but none of them are of a grave nature being chiefly brawls in cabarets and bars.

On Monday night there was a scuffle in a cabaret in Marianske Lazne, near Preutenau. The owner of this establishment, local leader of the Sudeten German Party, refused to serve a drunk Czech worker. A dispute followed, and five more Czech workers and some 20 Germans then joined in the forceful argument, which ended with all the participants being thrown out into the street. They continued their brawl in the street. About 100 Czechs now rallied to aid their comrades, while the "opposing forces" numbered some 200 to 300 Germans. Police and firemen had to be called out, but there was no one seriously injured.

This typical "incident" is contained in a report issued today by Ceteka, semi-official Czech news agency.—Havas.

German Envoy Broaches Issue in Moscow

Extraordinary Private Talk Reported Confirmed

Moscow, Aug. 30.

In the event of a Czecho-German armed conflict, France would probably assist the Czechs and Soviet Russia would then follow France, the Soviet Foreign Commissar, M. Maxim Litvinov, told the German Ambassador here in a recent private conversation, it was confirmed today.

The Reich's envoy, Council Friedrich von der Schulenburg, approached M. Litvinov on August 22, it was reaffirmed today, and asked him privately what would be the Soviet attitude. Upon hearing the Russian statesman's reply, he added that "the dangerous attitude of some Czech military elements could compel Germany to intervene and the Reich could not then be accused of unprovoked aggression."

All this took place in a private conversation between M. Livitnov and Count von der Schulenburg, it is stressed.—Havas.

German Navy Manœuvres In North Sea

Berlin, Aug. 31.

The annual manœuvres of the German Navy are at present taking place in the North Sea. The 60 units present recently at the naval review before the Hungarian Regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, and the Fuehrer at Kiel, including the battleships Gneisenau, Admiral Graf Spee, Admiral Scheer and Deutschland and the cruisers Neurnberg, Leipzig, Koeln and Koenigsberg, are participating.

The autumn manœuvres of the German Fleet are part of the annual training programme of the German Navy and are usually held in August and September. The progress of the German sea armaments permits this autumn for the first time the participation of a 26,000-ton battleship and a larger display of new destroyers and submarines.—Trans-Ocean.

Tokyo Rejecting U.S. Protest

Versions on C.N.A.C. Wreck Said Different; Warning to All Foreign Planes

Tokyo, Aug. 31.

The Foreign Office spokesman announced here this morning that Japan was rejecting the American protest against a Japanese aerial attack on a C.N.A.C. passenger plane in south China last week in which twelve civilians were killed.

American interests own 49 per cent. of the C.N.A.C. stock and an American pilot was flying the passenger plane when it was attacked, forced down and machine-gunned by Japanese Navy planes.

The Foreign Office spokesman said the American protest would be rejected on "factual grounds," indicating that the Japanese version of the incident did not coincide with the American version based on testimony of the three survivors of the attack.

Diplomatic quarters here were not certain which Japanese version of the incident would be cited in the rejection of the American protest. The first Japanese announcement regarding the incident admitted that the Japanese Navy planes had machine-gunned the passenger plane both in the air and after the plane had been forced down.

Firing Denied

Later official Japanese versions of the incident, issued through Japanese Consulates in various cities including Shanghai, flatly denied that the Japanese planes had fired upon the civilian plane.

Observers here believed the United States might again protest to Japan over the incident if the Japanese version cited in the note to Washington claimed the C.N.A.C. plane had not been machine-gunned. Bodies of victims recovered from the wrecked plane contained numerous machine-gun bullets, leaving little doubt that the plane had been heavily machine-gunned.

Meanwhile it was understood here that Japanese military authorities in Shanghai were drafting a statement in which all civilian planes in the China war zones would be subject to immediate attack by Japanese planes unless the schedule, course and identity of all passengers on the planes have been communicated to Japanese military officials in advance.—United Press.

Rules for Planes

Consent of the Japanese military authorities should be obtained before civilian aircraft engage in flights in the zone of hostilities in China," particularly near the Hankow region," Col. Hitoshi Hamada, director of the Japanese Army Press Bureau, declared in a prepared statement released to the press yesterday.

He appealed for the "co-operation" of the parties concerned to "assist in the efforts of the Japanese Army in preventing such unfortunate occurrences" as the recent downing of the China National Aviation Corporation airliner Kweilin near Canton.

Pointing out that with the steady advance of the Japanese forces towards Hankow, hostilities in that region were "daily growing in intensity," Col. Hamada stated that he felt it "opportune to present at this time the views of the army with regard to the subject."

"From personal experience," the statement read," it is difficult to distinguish between military and civilian aircraft in the air.

"When clouds and other atmospheric conditions lower visibility, it becomes increasingly difficult to ascertain the character of a machine in flight.

Full Description Required

"Consequently, there are times when it is almost unavoidable that aircraft in flight over a zone of operations be regarded as military machines.

"Therefore, it is hoped that the assent of the Japanese military authorities shall be obtained before any flight is engaged in by civilian aircraft having to pass, for some reason of other, above the zone of operations, after furnishing the Japanese authorities with the following information: 1. Type of aircraft; 2. Its colour or distinguishing marks; 3. Its route; 4. Its time of a departure and arrival; 5. A list of passengers with a bonafide description of the occupation of each passenger."

Replying to questions by foreign correspondents at yesterday evening's press conference, a Japanese military spokesman said that the Army reserved the right not to sanction any projected flights. Notice of "at least five days to a week" would have to be given before such assent could be granted, the spokesman said.

Dominions Give Fullest Support to Britain

"Der Angriff" London correspondent reports that Sir Nevile Henderson, on his return to Berlin, will present a statement to the German Foreign Office, which has been approved by the British Cabinet.

Press attacks on Britain are less violent, but are still noticeable.

Sir Nevile Henderson left by air for the German capital in the afternoon with a full and intimate knowledge of the minds of the British Cabinet but, contrary to reports, he did not take a Note for the German Government nor a personal letter from Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the Prime Minister, to Herr Hitler.

It is authoritatively stated that British interest is at present centred on the contact between the Czech Government and the Sudetens.—Reuter.

Situation Described As Easier

London, Aug. 31.

Diplomatic discussion of the Czech situation continued in London today.

Early this morning Lord Halifax saw Sir Nevile Henderson, the British Ambassador to Germany, for a final conference before the latter returned to Berlin, while later the Foreign Secretary saw the American, French Ambassadors consecutively.

Reuter's correspondents at Prague and Berlin this morning speak of a somewhat improved atmosphere.

The former understands that the reply of the Sudetens to the latest proposals of Dr. Benes, the Czech President, will probably depend upon Herr Hitler.

Berlin, on the other hand, is said to expect that the next few days will prove of decisive importance. Everything is reported to depend upon the tenor of the instructions which Sir Nevile Henderson is bringing from London.

The Ambassador is expected to call at the Foreign Office immediately he arrives in Berlin in order to convey his instructions to Herr Hitler personally or through Herr Joachim von Ribbentrop, the Foreign Minister.

The Fuehrer will probably receive Herr Konrad Henlein, the leader of the Sudetens, this weekend.—Reuter.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain Off to Balmoral

Prime Minister Receives American Ambassador

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, Aug. 31.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister, left No. 10 Downing Street, at 7 p.m. yesterday for Balmoral.

The Prime Minister took with him his fishing-rod, carried in his own car, while a second car followed carrying his baggage.

A crowd of about fifty watched his departure, waving hats and handkerchiefs.

At Balmoral, the Prime Minister will act as Minister-in-Attendance on the King for the next few days.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Chamberlain received a number of callers, including Sir Nevile Henderson, Sir Samuel Hoare, the Home Secretary; Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Secretary of State for the Colonies, and Mr. Joseph Kennedy, U.S. Ambassador in London.

It is understood that the medical advisers who saw Mr. Chamberlain on the previous night, Lord Horder and Mr. Bedford Russel, were quite satisfied with his condition, and the progress of his recovery from nasal catarrh.—Reuter.

Four Indians Charged In Supreme Court

Alleged Larceny of Goods From Wayside House

The trial of four Indians on larceny charges before Assistant Judge P. Grant Jones and a jury in H.M. Supreme Court was adjourned yesterday until this morning.

The Indians, Nika Singh, Harnam Singh, Udham Singh and Curcharan Singh, were alleged to have stolen boxes containing packages of corks and bottles as well as a number of bottling machines from House No. 52, Lane 449, East Seward Road.

The jury consisted of Messrs. F. R. W. Barnett, A. Huxley, J. C. Jenkins, R. J. Sheppard and H. W. Brown. Mr. F. C. Grant, who was to serve on the jury and who appeared when his name was called out the second time, was find £5 and dismissed.

Mr. Victor Priestwood, Crown Advocate, prosecuted, while Mr. K. E. Newman appeared for Harnam Singh, and Mr. R. L. Stuart for the other three accused.

In outlining the case, Mr. Priestwood said the boxes were stored in the East Seward Road house by Mr. Tsu S. Foh before the outbreak of hostilities in August last year. When Mr. Tsu returned on June 13, the house was found to be in considerable confusion and a good deal of its contents missing. Some of the stolen goods were found in houses in the same alleyway of which the first accused was a watchman.

Several witnesses were called after which the hearing was adjourned until this morning.

Gangster-philosopher, lover of Mozart, poetically-minded and player of the pipe-organ, such is the character Stephen Recka, as portrayed by Mr. Akim Tamiroff at the Nanking Theatre in "Dangerous to Know." Two of the cinema's seductive sirens, Miss Anna May Wong and Miss Gail Patrick, are cast as "good" women, the former his mistress, the latter a society lady, whom he hopes to marry. The remainder of the company, well-chosen for their respective roles of crooks or officers of the law, competently support the principals and make for a well balanced picture in which the vileness of the "boss," is rather more suggested than actually portrayed. The plot in short takes a portion of Edgar Wallace's "On the Spot," of course including the final unexpected denouement. The picture, like the novel, is absorbing and relaxing at the same time.—I.P.R.

Guerillas Appear in Nantao Area

Mobile Units Active Over Wide Area

For the first time since the withdrawal of Chinese troops, Chinese mobile units appeared yesterday in Nantao in the vicinity of the Lunghwa Junction, according to a Chinese report.

The units were said to have arrived from Sunkiang following the withdrawal to railway lines of Japanese troops which have been greatly reduced in number around Shanghai.

Special precautions have been taken by the Japanese in Lunghwa Road and Zia Tu Road. Two pedestrians, who entered the Japanese garrison zone, were reported to have been shot dead.

Chinese guerillas at Tsnigpu were also said to be very active. Pacification Commissioner of the Second District, Kiangsu and Chekiang provinces, Yang An-sing, was reported to have been killed in a clash with guerillas at Chukiakuo.

Man Burned to Death In Downtown Fire

Honan Road Shop Scene Of Midnight Blaze

One man was burned to death and two others were injured at a fire in a Chinese house, 551 Honan Road, near Feking Road, late on Tuesday evening and early yesterday morning.

The house involved is a shop, the upper floors and roof of which were badly damaged. An alarm was sent to Central Fire Station at 11.13 p.m., and the engines from that station were at the scene for nearly three hours before the flames were extinguished.

An ambulance removed the injured to hospital, while the man who had been burnt to death was taken to the Public Mortuary.

Wheat Subsidy Losses

Washington, Aug. 30.

The Department of Agriculture estimated today that it would lose up to US$12,500,000 on the wheat export subsidy which is one of the broadest on record. The plan offers to export 100,000,000 bushels to be marketed abroad at competitive world prices on which the Department of Agriculture would absorb all losses.—United Press.

New York Stocks

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, Aug. 30.

Stock prices on Wall Street today finished with gains up to about 2 points. Public hesitancy, however, was still very pronounced, owing to the insistent gold demand from London and the weakness of foreign exchanges in terms of dollars spot lighting the nervousness abroad. Oils ruled heavy on lower crude oil prices. The turnover today amounted to 630,000 shares.

Dow-Jones Summary

By Courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

New York, Aug. 31.

Sentiment on the Stock Exchange today was aided by the decreased tension abroad and favourable domestic business news. Experts argued that the decline had carried too far. A worldwide feature was the sterling/dollar rate breaking below the former parity of 4.8666. Favourable factors today included: indications point to carloadings touching a new high level for 1938; the firmer tone of steel scrap; the heartening prospect for furniture business; and, Department Store inventories being well below those of a year ago. Unfavourable factors were: nervousness prevailing in foreign markets and the renewed easiness of copper metal.

U.S. Commodities

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, Aug. 30.

Trading in the cotton market was early inactive and prices advanced on Liverpool and Bombay cables, less acute foreign political situation, a firmer stock market and domestic and foreign trade buying. Finally, the market advanced further on Wall Street covering and closed steady, with quotations ranging from 4 to 17 points up.

Prices in the rubber market early responded to steady cables, some relaxation of European tension, short covering, commission house buying and further factory accumulation. Foreign dealers were the chief sellers. At the last call-over, gains of 10 to 15 points were recorded.

Wheat prices in Chicago declined on the easing of European tension, the weakness of Winnipeg advices and liquidation which uncovered the absence of support. There were also reports of liberal purchases of Rumanian wheat by Belgium, while Italy and Germany were buying Hungarian wheat. At the final bell, losses of 7/8 to 1 1/8 cents were registered.

The sugar market advanced on trade, producer and outside buying, covering, the steadiness of London cables and nervousness over the international situation. It is expected that 58 notices will be issued tomorrow. At the close, quotations ranged from 2 to 2 1/2 points up.

Prices in the silk market closed steady, despite traders being cautious pending further European political developments and the issuance of domestic statistics. The average estimate of deliveries during August was 37,970 bales. Closing quotations were from 1 to 2 cents up.

Paris Bourse

Paris, Aug. 30.

The market on the Paris Bourse opened steady this morning on hopes of a favourable settlement of the Czech problem.

However, liquidation set in after the opening call and caused most issues to lose fractions.

The closing was slightly under yesterday's levels in most stocks, with the exception of Rentes and gold mines which remained steady.—Havas.

Reichsmark Quotations

Berlin, Aug. 31.

Reichsmark quotations without guarantee: New York 40.09, Paris 1467., Amsterdam 73.50 to 73.60, London 12.1375.

Paris quoted sterling at 178.30 to 178.34 and the U.S. dollar at 36.645 to 36.655.—Trans-Ocean.

Sterling Will Not Be Pegged

Treasury Officials Say No Effort Made To Link It With Old Parity

Washington, Aug. 30.

Officials of the United States Treasury indicated today that a deliberate effort would not be made to peg sterling at the old parity, although the Stabilization Fund will continue to operate in what the officials termed as "the usual co-operative capacity with foreign Governments."

This indicates that fluctuations in sterling would be permitted to continue within limits which the British and American Governments feel to be essential for a margin of safety, and it is understood that the psychological selling point, namely the old parity of 4.8666, should have no particular significance for the managers of the Stabilization Fund. —Reuter.

Junks Coming Back to Their Own

Old-style Vessels Resume Business on Yangtze

Hankow, Aug. 31.

The scarcity of transportation facilities is causing a revival of China's centuries' old sailing junk for the evacuation of Hankow's population.

Steamers navigating the Yangtze between Hankow and Chungking are so few that over 30,000 refugees from Hankow are still in Ichang, awaiting transportation into Szechuen.

Thousands, more in Hankow cannot find any way of travelling westwards.

A novel advertisement appeared in this morning's press. It stated:—"The Szechuen Yangtze Sailing Junk Navigation Company has specially sent 30 large-size sailing junks to Hankow to help transport refugees to Chungking.

"The company guarantees direct sailing, and also arrival at Chungking within two months."—Reuter.

Gillette reduces your shaving costs

Insist on Gillette . . . don't be persuaded to buy inferior blades on the grounds that they are cheaper. They may be lower in price, but they are not economical in use.

The best way to reduce your shaving costs is to buy Blue Gillette blades and a Gillette razor. They fit each other exactly, because they are designed as a unit; and they combine as a team to give the maximum number of perfect shaves with every blade.
